This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFATORY NOTICE.

To render this publication more interesting to the general reader, we have procured from various authentic sources, brief genealogical and historical or biographical notices of some of the more remarkable men and families in this community, into whose hands wealth has concentrated. We have endeavored to do equal and exact justice to the parties, and have deemed that we have been rendering an especial service to those, more particularly, who by honest and laborious industry have raised themselves from the obscure and humble walks of life, to great wealth and consideration. The public will be equally desirous to know those whose fortunes have been acquired in a more equivocal manner. If there be, by any possibility, any erroneous statements, we pledge ourselves to correct them in our next edition. If, also, any names of wealthy individuals over $100,000 have been omitted, we beg that they may be communicated. Our aim has been to wound the feelings of no one, but to define the true position of sundry individuals who are flourishing under false colors, and to do strict justice to all, and to tell the whole truth and nothing but the truth. In a country where money, and not title, is the standard by which merit is appreciated, it is desirable to adjust the standard with as much exactitude as possible in reference to the honest means by which wealth has been acquired.

New York, May, 1842.

Entered according to Act of Congress in the year one thousand eight hundred and forty-two, by MOSES Y. BEACH, in the Clerk's Office of the District Court of the United States for the Southern District of New York.

WEALTH

AND

WEALTHY CITIZENS OF NEW-YORK CITY.

A

Abrahams Jacob - - - - - - 150,000

This oddity is of an ancient and respectable Jew family, and with his brother acquired a large fortune in the tobacco business, being one of the oldest firms in that line in our city.

Adams John - - - - - - - - 300,000

As the name imports, one of our numerous New England "immigrations." New York being in fact as much the metropolis of New England and the emporium of her commerce and of her enterprizing, adventurous and money-hunting population, as it is of the "Empire State" and of the American Continent. Our city has been none the worse, perhaps, for this influx from "down east," which, like the fresher, deposits always "en mouvement" upon their own sterile soil, and driven by ocean currents, (favorite element to your Yankee race) have quite overlaid the original and primitive aggregations of early Dutch settlers of this once city of New Amsterdam. Mr. John Adams flourished in the dry goods line, when great wealth was easily and rapidly acquired thereby.

Adee William - - - - - - - 150 000

Allen Stephen - - - - - - - 150,000

Of a Long Island, New England, family, we believe, and for a long time kept one of the best sail lofts in the city; a man of austere temper, but reputed of stern honesty, strict probity, and great good sense, judgment and energy, which, in despite of slight opportunities of education in early life, when behad "to rough it" with tarpaulin, elevated him to the Mayoralty and various other high and responsible trusts in the democratic party.

Alley Saut - - - - - - - - 100 000

Originally a chair or cabinet maker, and resided, we believe, at Charleston, S. C.; has since become in some sort a cabinet-maker in politics, in which some years back he took rather an ultra and prominent position. His fortune was acquired in the dry goods and importation and shipping business; being one of the numerous instances of an uneducated, unaided youth, among the mechanic class, who have, by their own indomitable energies and strong intellect, advanced themselves to affluence.

Alstyne John - - - - - - 100,000

Ames Barret - - - - - - - 100,000

Amos' Estate Mr. - - - - - 200,000

Andariese Barnet - - - - - 100,000

Anderson Abel - - - - - - 200,000

Truly able, both in gold and in law knowledge. His father was an admirable shoemaker, and we believe honest man, who deserved all that wax and leather made for him.

Anthon John - - - - - 150,000

His father was a highly respectable and learned physician, native of Germany, or son of a German. The sons of Dr. Anthon have nearly all distinguished themselves by their great ability. John, as a lawyer; Henry, as a divine, and Charles, the truly illustrious professor of ancient languages in Columbia College in this city. John added a large amount to his fortune by his marriage with Miss Hone, daughter of John Hone, deceased, an auctioneer.

Arcularius George - - - - - - 200,000

A German born, we believe; and, with his brother Philip, obtained his wealth as a famous baker—bringing up his children with a good education—of which Gen Henry A., of the horse artillery, and late Commissary General of the State, is, we believe; one.

Arnold Aaron - - - - - - 150,000

Arthur John - - - - - - 200,000

Aspinwall Wm. H. - - - - - - 200,000

His father and uncle were distinguished merchants of this city, who retired to Flushing, L. I—albeit, no doubt of an ancient and honorable line from "William Aspinwall;" famous name, and uncompromising champion of religious liberty in the earlier New England annals.

Astor John Jacob - - - - - 14 000,000

Probably the richest man on the Continent of America, and of course one of the richest in the world, advancing nearly up in a line with a Rajah of Hindostan, or a Chinese mandarin, or Hong merchant. He came out to this country some 50 years since, a poor German emigrant alone and friendless, among the herd of steerage passengers, in a ship commanded by that venerable sea Captain, Jno. Whetten, whose position, then so exalted above Astor's, has been ever since the reverse; the one like Midas, turning every thing he touched into gold—the other like Sysiphus, in vain struggling upward against "the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune." The one, (Whetten) in his extreme old age, seeking a refuge from the storms and perils of the troubled life he has led, as the superintendent of the "Sailor's Snug Harbor;" the other, (Astor) in the decrepid feebleness of a nonagenarian, trembling and tottering in his limbs, yet still on the very brink of the grave, hugging to his cold embrace, as if death could not loosen his grip, cart loads of deeds and pyramids of mortgages, the vouchers of worldly possessions that in value and extent cover more than any principality or dukedom, comprising estates, mansions, palaces, whole towns, and even counties, if not distant territories like that named after him, Astoria, on the Pacific; yet this extraordinary man, probably a journeyman fur dealer in some obscure village on the Rhine, well versed in the best localities for a market, commenced humbly his career by purchasing packs of furs from the Indians west of Albany. "Many is the time and oft (says a gentleman of Schenectady) have I seen Jno. Jacob, with coat off like a common laboring mechanic, unpacking, in a vacant yard near my residence, the packs of furs he had purchased 'dog cheap' of the Indians, and beating them out and cleansing and repacking them in more elegant and saleable forms, to be transported to those interior towns of Germany where they would yield him some five to ten hundred per cent. profit!" He thus in early life vigorously put his own shoulders to the wheel, and Hercu rather the god of wealth, and of gold, and of worldly goods, whoever he may be, has helped him "with a vengeance." There are those in New York who recollect seeing him in a wet and unwholesome cellar in [illegible] street, we think, pursuing the same laborious [illegible] of livelihood. But how Jno. Jacob's fortune has by [illegible] possible scope of infinite progression been accumulat[illegible]om such beginnings to such prodigious amount as it [illegible] in every part of the globe, almost would require more than the algebra of a Euler to decypher, or the mathematics of a Legendre. to determine the formula of. There has been in Jno. Jacob from nature Herculean vigor of mind with muscular proportions of limb and stature, for his volume of brain and strong intellectual cast of features, betray in unerring lineaments the force, character and shrewdness of the mind within—of which his whole life, wherever his fiscal abilities particularly have been put to the test, has given masterly proofs. Jno. Jacob's auriferous power has been such that it has even absorbed within its magnetism the two master-spirits of the age in American literature—the one, the immortal Irving, who will go down to posterity as the historiographer of Jno. Jacob Astor, as well as of Christopher Columbus and Diedrich Knickerbocker—while Halleck, the confidential accomptant of the American Crœsus, mayhap in his humor one day, should a slice of the Astor House or the estate on Lake Geneva be bequeathed to him, will consent to become his poet-Laureate. Where "the almighty[dollar" is worshipped as it is said to be in our country, though not so much for miserly hoarding as for vain display, we shall not discuss the subject why or how such spirits as Halleck and Irving "cottoned" to one of mortal coarser grain so little ethereal as Jno. Jacob. But "de gustibus," &c. His enormous wealth (some say 30 millions of dollars) is of course to such a man the subject of his thoughts by day and of his dreams by night; and, robust as his person is, it is nearly worn out by this perpetual excitement and sundry domestic misfortunes, all unhappily traceable to those heart-burnings, and acrimonies, and feuds which "filthy lucre" engenders among those who are united even by the closest blood relationship. William B., the oldest son and favorite heir, is himself "a chip of the old block," and already, like Tantalus, in the midst of the flood, is dying from thirst and hankering for more, and fear of losing the least portion of that which he has. It is given out that Jno. Jacob, however, is actually arranging to leave a noble bequest to New York of a splendid library.

Astor Wm. B. - - - - - - 1,500,000

Austin David - - - - - - - 300,000

David's father was in the humble capacity, it is said, of bell-ringer to a village church in New Jersey. By David's connection in business and afterwards in marriage with the highly respectable Irish family of John Haggerty, (son of an officer in the British Army during the American revolution) his career in the auction business led on to fortune, and his good sense and amiability have secured him "troops of friends." Like the Aspinwalls, tho' part of their line may have been down in the world, they may go back perhaps to crests and coronets—chevrons and gules; Norman conquests and Cœur de Leon crusades.

Aymar Benj'n - - - - - - 300,000

Another marked child of fortune, through a father's hard earned savings in the cooperage line. The Aymars, sons of a famous and respected old cooper, are now among our most powerful and keen merchants, and fully sustain by their industry and unblemished integrity in business the respectable character of their worthy parent.—The wealth and taste of the Aymars have already placed them in the front rank, or "haute classe," of our "novi homines." The name has an ancient Spanish odour however, perhaps Castilian hidalgo.

Aymar John Q. - - - - - - 100,000

B

Bache Robert - - - - - - 200,000

Banks David - - - - - - 150,000

Benyer Mrs. - - - - - - 100,000

Barclay George - - - - - -

Estimable son of the estimable and venerable Barclay, British Consul, deceased, lineal descendant of the famous Quaker writer Barclay, author of "Theology for Quakers." George and Anthony, brothers acquired large property by untiring industry and attention to business, and that suavity of manners which belongs to gentlemen of the old school, so different from the rude and coarse familiarity or offensive arrogance of parvenus.

Barstow H. W. - - - - - -

Barsalon Victor - - - - - -

One of the numerous instances of lucky Frenchmen and merchants in the brandy trade. May he never forget to pay and pray for the land and people who put rich dollars in his pockets. This may be said of the French:—Seldom do we find among them a renegade cursing and damning the country that protects them and gives them bread—and how we could say so of all foreigners.

Bartlett Caleb - - - - - -

Battelle Joseph - - - - - -

Bolton Curtis - - - - - - -

John and Curtis B., brothers, merchants, of Boston, planters.

Beach Moses Y. - - - - - -

Beekman Henry - - - - - - -

Descendant of Gov. W. Beekman, about 220 years Dutch Governor of South Fort, on the Delaware any of the Dutch noblesse of the very earliest [illegible] tions at New Amsterdam (now New York) remains is one who, like all the intermediate links from the nor down have nobly upheld the renown and rank ancestors. The Beekmans, however, have been numerous. Two others of the family follow. [illegible] Beekman was one of those stalwart men, who, as 1653 demanded of the Holland government charter for this city, and it was given.

Beekman John - - - - - -

Beekman S. D. - - - - - -

Bleecker J. W. - - - - - -

Bininger's Estate Abrm. - - -

Of German extraction, and rose by very small nings and scrapings and hoardings, to accumulate grocery line a large property for other generations joy, as all should enjoy money. His brother Joh famous accomptant and algebraist.

Bishop Japhet - - - - - -

Bloodgood Thomas - - - - -

Of an ancient Dutch family of New Amsterdam then "Bloetgoot," and from the primitive ro the late Francis B,, Dr. B., De Witt B., &c.

Bogert Henry K. - - - - - -

Bogert James (residing in Brooklyn,)

Bogert James Jr. - - - - - -

An old Dutch family.

Bonnett Peter - - - - - -

Boorman James - - - - - -

Scotch merchant; has by great good luck acquired vast fortune. A very estimable man.

Bouchaud Joseph - - - - -

Bowne Walter - - - - - -

Descendant of an ancient and highly respectable family of Queens Co., L. I., who were so brutally persecuted for their religious tenets by the last Dutch governor, Petrus Stuyvesant. Walter has held high offices in the State, Mayor of New York, Senator, &c. One of our distinguished merchants ever so rapidly acquired large a fortune, and fewer still have had, like him, prudence to husband and increase it.

Bradhurst J. M. - - - - - -

Bradhurst Samuel - - - - -

Brandreth Benj'n - - - - - - 150,000

The celebreted vender of "Brandreth's Pills," whose virtues are said to consist in aloes, &c., compounded with the greatest care and selected of the finest qualities. Empiric then though he be, he is not of the murderous tribe.

Brevoort Henry - - - - - - 250,000

Brevoort H. Jr. - - - - - - 300,000

A worthy man and good citizen, bnt that he would appear to be what he is not and strive to cast behind him the foreshadowing of by-gone events. To his kind hearted and venerable mother, whose weather-beaten features bore the brunt and pitiless peltings of many a piercing wintry northeaster of sleet and rain, as she sat vending her vegetables, and carrots and York salad and olycakes, under the unsheltered eaves of the market-house in the Bowery, is Henry indebted for the brilliant fortune and more brilliant education he received, all literally the fruits of her hard earnings. Further at present we know nothing of Henry's lineage. He himself is distinctly and positively of the order of "literateurs," though not "distingue" He is of the "novus homo," having, with his wife, a rich Southern widow, a very keen relish for all sorts of fashionable display, and like others of our would be nobility a most abhorrent repugnance to any communication with what such are pleased to call the "profanun vulgus," and "basse classe," or "canaille," or "decamisados," "sans culottes," or "carbonari," who, however, were the boon companions of his venerable mother.

Bronson Arthur - - - - - - 100,000

The Bronsons date from the father, Doctor B., of Connecticut, the great financier, a marvellous quality in one of the faculty.

Bronson Silas - - - - - - 100,000

Bronson Silas - - - - - - 250,000

Brooks James - - - - - - 100,000

Brooks Thomas - - - - - - 100,000

Brooks Sydney - - - - - - 100,000

Son of that John Jacob Astor of Boston Peter C. Brooks, brother of the late Governor B.

Brown Geo. W. - - - - - - 100,000

Brown James - - - - - - 300,000

English firm of great repute.

Brown Silas - - - - - - 100,000

Brown Stewart - - - - - - 300,000

Bruce George - - - - - - 100,000

A worthy mechanic, who, in company with his brother, from a printer, some years ago, became a type founder. By great industry and care, the possession of much natural shrewdness and judicious operations in real estate, he has rendered himself wealthy, and is now master of a handsome fortune.

Bruce J. M. - - - - - - 100,000

Bruen Matthias - - - - - - 700,000

When the great China merchant, Thos. H. Smith, of this city, failed, Bruen, through his son, Geo. W. B., who had married to Smith's daughter, became possessed of all Smith's ships, teas, &c., as Smith's bondsman. Government unwisely relinquished the greater part of what was due to the revenues, say $600,000, and this has made through rise of Smith's assets, houses, &c. a vast property for the Bruens, a New Jersey family, and originally dry goods merchants. Geo. W. lived in Italy and was in the Leghorn line.

Bryson David - - - - - - 100,000

An honest upright Irishman, one of the nabobs of the tanners and curriers of the "Swamp," with the Blood-goods, &c. Has been an Alderman.

Buchanan Miss - - - - - - 150,000

Daughter of Thomas Buchanan, (deceased.)

Buckley Thomas - - - - - - 100,000

English Quaker, merchant, who made a good adventure, the first impulse to his fortune, when he married a daughter of the rich John Lawrence, deceased.

Buckley Jno. L. - - - - - - 100,000

Son of Thos. (vide); and inherited a large estate by marriage with the daughter of Townsend Macoun, deceased, late Mayor of Troy.

Buloid Robert - - - - - - 100,000

Bunker Wm. J. - - - - - - 100 000

Of the Nantucket Bunkers, of whom is the famous Commodore or "Admiral" Elihu S. Bunker, the first that drove a steamer on the wave of the ocean, having been the man who first navigated Long Island Sound in a steamboat—many, many years since.

Campbell John - - - - - - 100,000

Carman Rich'd F. - - - - - - 200.000

A respectable New England name—carpenter by profession, and by this gained his wealth; he himself wisely building his own houses for fools to buy or live in, the old adage being in this case reversed.

Carroll Isaac - - - - - - 150,000

Carow Isaac - - - - - - 200,000

Cary Henry - - - - - - 300,000

Respectable, worthy merchants, he and his brother —and trouble no one by any haughty display of their wealth—being gentlemen throughout, in mode and in manner.

Chauncey Henry - - - - - 150,000

Cheeseman Dr. - - - - - - 100 000

His father, an eminent quaker ship builder, gave the Dr. a good education, and by dint of Quaker influence in the government of the New York Hospital, got him there, and then through the same and a dashing horse and gig, into a rich quaker practice, for which the Doctor's personal elegance and bold ability as a cutter (surgeon) did much. If his celebrated uncle, Capt. Cheesman, who died so nobly under Montgomery at Quebec, was, as his comrades said; one of the finest looking men of his time, and took as much pains, as is is recorded, to make his toilette and beautify his person on the morning of that fatal day, as the Doctor does when visiting the saloons of the quaker noblesse, (who are ready to pay him $25 per visit) he must have been a second Beau Brummel. If the patronage of the quaker order of christians first brought note and wealth to the Doctor, his golden wings soon became fully fledged and strengthened, for he now doffed the shad bellied olive coat so velvety and neat, and the yellow breeches and white tops so polished, that had all in the matter of costume done him such faithful and essential service, and launched forth in to the gay world of frolick, fun and dance, of balls and banquets, and tableaux vivants From being an exquisite of the first water in the quaker circle, he is now aspiring apparently to figure as the Henry Pelham of our new made nobility of the ultra fashionable society in the purlieus of upper Broadway. Ejection from communion with the quaker church, to which his wife, the daughter herself of a quaker preacher, was also subjected, widened the breach, and the Doctor is now virtually "hors de combat" for the little of the pure broad brim that will hurt him.

Chesebrough R. - - - - - - 200,000

A highly respectable and worthy merchant, who acquired his property in the dry goods line.

Chesebrough Mrs. (widow of Andronicus) 500,000

Chesterman James - - - - - - 200,000

A worthy man and most capital tailor he was till an overgrown fortune honestly acquired in that unpretending vocation, obliged him to seek repose in a "hacienda" or "chateau," "a l'Anglois" in the environs of this imperial city.

Clapp John - - - - - - 100 000

Clark Aaron - - - - - - 100 000

Of this state—long the valuable clerk of the legislative Assembly through all changes and revolutions of politics, which, however, one day at last landed him by one sudden and violent gyration of the wheel of fortune into a lottery office, where after multifarious dealing with the Sybelline leaves of fate, and the blanks and prizes of life's checquer board, another equally sudden wrench of the wheel placed him in the marble house or capitol of the city, firmly seated in diplomatic black silk breeches and formidable wig, in the "fauteuil" of the mayoralty—dispensing justice and law, and carmen's licenses and passengers permits, instead of lottery tickets and uncurrent money.

"Viva la Bagatella!
Leather and Prunella!"

But whatever "gyrations" Aaron may have made, and to whatever changing points of the compass the vane of his friendship or hostility has turned, we rank him a notable example of the facility with which persevering active, sleepless industry and ambition, with native born shrewdness of mind, and pleasant social manners may, like the upheaving volcano, work their way to the surface of notoriety, through every superincumbent stratum of obstruction and adversity.

Clark Edwin - - - - - - 100 000

Clark Richard S. - - - - - - 100,000

Clark Mrs. (widow of Benj'n) - - 100 000

Mr. Clark, from "down east," was famed as the Quaker lawyer, and friend of Daniel Webster; and a most worthy man and excellent jurist it is said he was.

Clason Augustus W. - - - - - 100,000

Isaac Clason, first in the honorable vocation of a school master of a finished New England collegiate education, became one of the most prominent and enterprising shipping merchants of New York, and acquired and left a large estate. The lady of the present Postmaster, Colonel Jno. L. Graham is one of the daughters of Isaac Clason.

Clinton Mrs. H. (widow of Geo.) - 100,000

Mrs. Hannah Clinton, daughter of Walter Franklin, Esq., an eminent Quaker merchant of this city, from L. Island. Her husband was nephew to Vice President Geo. Clinton, and brother of the great Governor, Dewitt Clinton—"Sarse est" for Clinton, a household name—but the rich Franklin brothers, merchants of New York, deserve a memento for the many noble ways in which they through intercession with the Tory authority and Hessian troops, were enabled notwithstanding, to dispense their wealth to their poor, miserable, suffering countrymen, the American prisoners confined in the Sugar House, Provo, &c. during the American Revolution. Mrs. Hannah C. is a sister also of Gov. Dewit Clinton's first wife, by whom alone Gov. D. C. had issue.

Coddington Jonathan I. - - - - - 100,000

A merchant, and late the worthy Postmaster, a gentleman every inch of him—through life, and from the first jump of his parentage on this continent, two centuries since, in the person of the famous Wm. Coddington, Esq., of England, first of Boston, then the founder and first Governor of Rhode Island, (1638) He was the first merchant of New England, built the first brick house in Boston, and at his house at Newport was held the first Quaker meeting. Jonathan is a lineal descendant of Gov. C., and was long a distinguished merchant of our city, and like his great progenitor, an unswerving democrat.

Coles Benj. N. - - - - - - 150,000

The Coles of Long Island and of New York, and probably those of Virginia are descendants of Mr. Robert Coles and others of that name, (doubtless all brothers,) who settled at Boston, Lynn, &c about two centuries since, and are among the most ancient and respectable of American names. The ancient earldom of Enniskillen in Ireland belongs to the family of Coles, but their Irish descendants who came over, brought, we opine, precious little of the moveables thereof with them.

Her father was Geo. Douglass, a Scotch merchant, hoarded closely. His wine cellar was more exte than his library. When George used to see people s lating and idle, it distressed him. He would say ' ple get too many ideas in their heads. Why don't work—work—work?" What a blessing he is not in this moon-shine age of dreamy schemings.

The Crugers were of Bristol, Eng, of which the that first came out here, "Old Harry," father-in of the present judge Thos. Oakley, of the Superior C had been Mayor.

Desbrosses (Estate of James) - -	600,000

This is one of the old New York estates and families, which have accumulated like many others from large real possessions, from long before the American revolution, and passed by intermarriage into other names. The Desbrosses family, long deemed by the false standard in this country, for being in possession of considerable real estate for half a century or upwards, as among the "patres conscripti, are any thing but patrician in their extraction. Old Elias Desbrosses and his brother, (the latter grandfather of James above,) came out to this country as among the very poorest of the Huguenot emigrations, near two centuries since. They settled here, and carried on their vocation as French confectioners in a very humble way, very probably the fashionable caterers for the few fetes and festivals that took place among the elite of society in those primitive days. Their two maiden sisters being at the same time the most esteemed milliners of that day, and furnishing the latest Parisian fashions, to our then belles of Broadway, exciting thus at that early period a taste for French costumes which is now all the rage, and not extraordinary when we reflect how well the classical taste of the French in matters of female attire is adapted to the beautiful and sylph-like forms of American ladies. Through the aid of confectionery and millinery the grandson, James Desbrosses, above, became exceedingly wealthy and left his property to two daughters, one of whom married John Hunter, at present a senator in our legislature, and the other a Mr. Overing, of Rhode Island. The fate of the Chadeayne (sometimes spelt anciently and improperly Shadden, as pronounced) family, is singularly contrasted with that of the Desbrosses. The Chadeaynes were also Huguenots, and came hither at the same time with the Desbrosses — In their own country of France the Chadeaynes (as the Desbrosses themselves have often admitted,) were of the ancient aristocracy, into whose society the Desbrosses could not have obtained admission. Here the picture, under the operation of the rotatory topsy-turvy machinery of our wholesome system of polity, has been sadly reversed, and the Chadeaynes have been for generations down among the "hewers of wood and drawers of water," and "none so poor to speak to them."

But few names will shine long in the annals of medical history brighter than this. Whatever may be said of his foibles as a man, his superior practical talent, sagacity, boldness and decision as a bedside practitioner, and the invaluable lessons in medicine he has left will live forever while truth and common sense prevail. He was a man reckless and extravagant in money matters, and as he often said, his embarrassments were perpetually bringing him to the verge of bankruptcy. In latter years, happily or unhappily for him, a sudden tide of wealth poured profusely into his lap by his marriage with the rich widow of Henry A. Coster, (see Coster.) by which he realized the immediate possession of over half a million of personal property alone, that nearly turned and intoxicated his excitable brain and impetuous temperament. Converting that and portions of the large real estate income of Mrs. Coster into new purchases in his own names, he hoped to give a solid and permanent basis to the opulence with which he naturally and modestly designed to enrich his own children by a former wife. At Hyde Park he laid out his lawns and grounds with a luxuriousness that surpassed the English gentry, and spared no expense, transplanting often full grown trees from the sides of mountains to form readymade forest scenery upon his own plantation; together with this property he made large investments in insurance stocks, but in his avidity to become a Croesus it seemed as if an evil star would indignantly rob him of all. The dreadful conflagration that laid 600 houses in ashes in one night, swallowed up nearly every insurance company in the city. The shock caused an apoplexy, and he perished; and since his death the terrible depression in real estate has in fine left his own children with but a few thousands—barely enough to support them, and even much of that has been melted away. So much for a self made man, whose father was a humble redemptioner that worked his apprenticeship out in the Roosevelt family, and became rich, and richly endowed his favorite son David, and then set him up in practice by purchasing out Dr. Samuel Bard. But for David's marriage with a widow of extreme wealth he would have been now and for years hence at the head of his profession, and of eminent usefulness—all of which and his life were suddenly arrested by the potent influence of gold.

Some have thought her the heroine of Halleck's beautiful poem of "Fanny."

Lawrence C. W. - - - - - - 100,000
Of highly respectable quaker descent on all sides—rose to fortune in the Auctioneer house of Hicks, Lawrence & Co., which soon after his withdrawal therefrom made a deplorable bankruptcy. Cornelius has been Mayor of the city.

Lawrence D. L. - - - - - - 300,000

Lawrence Henry H. - - - - - 100,000

Lawrence Isaac (estate of) - - - 100,000
The old Banshire once so esteemed, has left, it is said, not a sous! Can his very profound and diplomatic son inform us how much has been eaten up in bad lot speculations? It wont do for boys to be too wise before their beards are grown; for mournful are the consequences often to an innocent third party.

Lawrence John B - - - - - - 150,000
A wealthy old cit, cousin of Cornelius, and acquired his fortune in the drug line.

Lawrence Joseph - - - - - - 200,000
Brother of Cornelius, and married a rich heiress, daughter of Ald. Thos. S. Townsend, of the Long Island Townsends.

Lawrence R. M. - - - - - - 200,000

Lawrence Abraham - - - - - 150,000
Descended, with R. M. L. and most of the name in this city, including Cornelius, from three brothers from England, John, William and Thomas.

Leary James - - - - - - - 100,000

Leavitt David - - - - - - - 200,000
From down East, and a merchant—an ultra teetotaller, in which his zeal has made him conspicuous, though it has not been turned, perhaps, to a mercenary account as ingeniously as Arthur Tappan has trafficked with his incendiary abolition plots.

Lee David - - - - - - - - 500,000

Leggett Samuel - - - - - - 300,000

Leggett Thomas - - - - - - 800,000
The Leggetts are an old New York family, but chiefly known as a very money-getting race. The one who was President of a certain rotten banking institution stands as to reputation, in a very equivocal light before the community. He resides, we believe, in the country, to shun the popular odium which on one occasion, while crossing in a steam ferry boat, was very significantly expressed by chalking the name of the bank (whose flag once more he had directed) upon the panels of the carriage! So one of the bill holders gouged by the institution, looked, doubtless, upon Leggett's equipage and wealth as "legitimately" a part of their own property.

Lenox James - - - - - - - 2,500,000
Son of Robert, deceased, who was the British commissary to that charnel house to Americans, the Jersey prison ship, and thus ingloriously amassed a portion, at least, of his wealth. Robert was brother of James. (See Jones above.

Le Roy Jacob R. - - - - - - 300,000
Of an ancient and highly distinguished Hougenot family, we believe. Daniel Webster, the Sec. of State, married for his last and present wife a Miss Le Roy. Jacob Le Roy inherits a large estate from his father-in-law, Thos. Otis, who as Otis & Swan, in the war made a great deal of money.

Leupp Charles - - - - - - - 150,000

Lewis Morgan - - - - - - - 700,000
Formerly Gov. of the State, Major General of the Army, &c. Acquired his estate by marrying a Livingston of wealth. Gen. Lewis is of an ancient Welsh family.

Little Edward - - - - - - - 200,000

Little Jacob - - - - - - - - 400,000
An old and worthy citizen, and one the shrewdest brokers in Wall st.

Livingston Maturine - - - - - 100,000
Though of the family of Livingston, which for a family so prolific and numerous as theirs is has been one of the most wealthy in the State, but little in the subdivision of multiplying generations fell to the share of Maturine, who marrying the cousin, daughter of Gen. Morgan Lewis, above, has however acquired large opulence in perspective. The Livingstons began in this state about 150 years since in the person of a Scotch clergyman, who on a famous old white horse made his incursions through the valley of the Mohawk to tell with effect. From him sprang an intelligent, enterprising race, who in the next generation secured large landed estates, since manorial by their extent on both sides the Hudson River. Martin Van Buren commenced his career as a village lawyer at Kinderhook by undertaking to invalidate the Livingston titles, but their numbers and wealth were too much for him. Their names loom largely on our records; and after the Rensselaers and the Dutch and English nobility, they rank among the most distinguished families in the State.

Lord Daniel - - - - - - - 100,000
A most profound lawyer, it is said, and none the worse for his filial attention to and affection for, his venerable parent, "Doctor Lord," so called, because that parent did or does vend or did or does advertise specifics for certain specific diseases. If one may use to a practice of $20 000 per annum on the quirks and quibbles of legal technicalities, why may not one lean upon the mummery and mystifications of patent prescriptions in the healing art.

Lord Rufus L. - - - - - - 500 000
A dead million aire and a bachelor His large property is composed of a number of valuable stores in the burnt district.

Lorrillard Jacob - - - - - - 1,000,000

Lorrillard Jacob Jr. - - - - - - 150,000

Lorrillard Peter - - - - - - 2 500,000
The Lorillards are a Hougenot family, we believe, and of course of respectable origin, as all who fled hither for the glorious object of religious liberty, undoubtedly were The brothers Jacob, Peter and George, the first as a leading merchant, the other two as tobacconists, are famous in our city, especially the two last, for the prodigious wealth they have acquired by those callings. They entered early into large purchases of real estate; in the city, when there was no such thing as moonshine lots and Munchausen speculators.

A worthy "medico," and now one of the fathers of the profession; a gay Lothario of an old bachelor is he, and a "virtuoso" in music and the fine arts; yet strange to say has not, as many have, thereby lost caste among the faculty, but always has had a great run of practice. Much of this good luck is traceable to the fact that his worthy mother, Mrs. Glass, was the most popular midwife among all the gentry of New York in revolutionary days, as her advertisement in Rivington's old Tory Gazette, while the "Britishers" were here, clearly shows.—She could do much among the petticoats to forward her son's prospects.

Mason (Estate of) John - - - 800,000

Another practical exemplification of the rich rewards of mechanic industry. John was a first rate tailor in his day, and from cutting cloth proceeded to the rank of "Merchant Tailor and Draper," and by vending piece goods, and turning over and over again his profits, and vesting in real estate when cheap, left near a million—and to his credit gave his family an excellent education; one daughter marrying a Jones, son of a cooper by trade, (brother of Edward R. J. above), and therefore keeping properly to her own grade, and now at the very tip top pinnacle of that peculiar class of dashing, fashionable people. A son of Jno. Mason married the charming young actress, Miss Wheatley, of the Park Theatre, talented daughter of her famous, talented mother, Mrs. W., who is still the "Mademoselle Mars" of that old establishment. The Mason family are one of those exceptions to the common rule of parvenues in our city, that they have the good sense never to decry mechanics and tradespeople from whom they sprang, but rather court them, and give them the entree to their brilliant soirees, where the properties of steam engines, the virtues of hickory hoop-poles, and good oak staves, and the last cuts and patterns of the costumes of Bond street and the Boulevards are discussed with like philosophical acumen and minuteness.

Mauran Oroondates - - - - - 150,000

Mildeberger John - - - - - 150,000

Miller John G. - - - - - - 200,000

Rich and rides in his equipage, but, it is said, sprang from a very obscure origin, we believe that of a "candle-snuffer" in the Park Theatre. So much the more honor to him, to have made such a leap as he has. He need not shun investigation into his pedigree, nor cry with Othello, "Put out the light!" for it was truly the life of his vocation, and the source of his fortune.

Mills Drake - - - - - - 100,000

Mills James - - - - - - 100,000

Minturn R. B. - - - - - - 100,000

There are those who have seen pass before them in the panorama of the last half century, a succession of reigning houses of wide spread fame as India merchants, all now toppled down one after the other, and gone to perdition! This Minturn is one of the sons of that Minturn who, with the Franklins and Robinsons, were among the very earliest to launch out their 700 ton ships for the China seas, these ships then being denied Mammoths in naval architecture. How have things changed, when 1000 tons is scarcely looked at for an ordinary packet!

Moffatt Wm. B. - - - - - - 100,000

Monroe Mrs. James (Douglass Estate) 300,000

Wife of Capt. or Col Jas. Monroe, formerly of the army, and nephew of the late James Monroe, President of the United States, whose ancestor, he boasted in telling, was a tanner.

Moore Clement C. - - - - - 250,000

Of the highly respectable family of the late Bishop Moore, whose ancestors located first at Newtown, L. I., as plain farmers or mechanics, as most of the first colonists from England were.

Morrell Thomas - - - - - - 100,000

Morris Gouverneur - - - - - 500,000

His father, the venerable and famous Gouverneur M., late in life married a Randolph, of Virginia, and left the only inheritor; richly, as Martin Wilkins and other expectants said, meriting the name of Kut.us.off—at that time a great Russian warrior. The Morris family of New York and New Jersey began on a large figure, and have so continued to prosper for 160 years. Col. Lewis Morris, a celebrated English quaker merchant of Barbadoes, and friend of Wm Penn, coming here to New York with his own ships and goods, and with his brother, Captain Richard M., making immediately purchases of large tracts on Long Island, at Harlem river, at Shrewsbury, &c., N. J. (hence Morristown and Morrisania estate, the last the estate of the young gent above,) &c. And from this truly illustrious stock came all the Morrises hereabout and in New Jersey; and in their hands the patrimonial estates still rest, together with the household jewelry and plate for many generations back, which few families can say.

Mortimer Richard	200,000

An honest upright tailor, now retired on a large estate. His lovely daughter was deemed, beyond all question, the reigning belle at Saratoga—not even eclipsed by Miss Jones; whose grandpa was alike a self made man from the shopboard. [Vide Mason]

Moss John	200,000
Mott Samuel F.	150,000
Mott Valentine Dr.	200,000

A famous surgeon—of an old respectable quaker family of English descent—the progenitor locating about two centuries since at Mespath Kills, Newtown, afterwards at Hempstead. Valentine is the architect of his own fortunes, and has literally cut his way up to a very handsome estate. Viva la scalpel! The other Motts here are of the same stem.

Mott Wm F.	150,000
Moulton Charles	200,000

Charles was an active shrewd little broker some 15 years since in Wall street, and by some fortunate purchase of real estate became wealthy. He married for love a pretty little poor girl, the much accomplished only daughter of a respectable German piano teacher by a French wife. Mademoiselle Metz—now Mad. Moulton—was in early life deemed almost a musical prodigy by her voice and performances on the piano, and brought money to her parents by singing at public concerts. Moulton is of a high New England family, and has resided some years since in Paris, where Madame Moulton has made great exertions to be received into "haute society," and finally succeeded in being permitted to play the part of a "Pompadour Shepherdess" in one of the tableaux recently given at a ball of the Duke of Orleans. We do not think it possible that any American lady with American blood in her veins, would ever demean herself and expose herself to the sneers and sarcasms of the "Faubourg St. Germains," for the sake of being occasionally favored with a haughty nod of recognition from any of the ancient nobility or new made peers of the French kingdom. Nous verrons.

Munn Stephen B.	200,000

One of the old-st dry goods merchants of New York—long a famous house in Pearl street. We believe him a worthy man.

Munson M.	100,000
Murray John R.	150 000

The Murrays were about half a century since among the most wealthy and influential, and hail from noble Scotch extraction, though the most eminent here have been of the Society of Friends. One of these latter, in his high seat, set up his carriage, which, being deemed a little too luxurious, he palliated the censure by calling it a "Gleadhern vehicle" for convenience! Col. Jas. R. Niblo Wm.	100,000

The matchless and incomparable Niblo, proprietor of the Niblo Gardens, director of operas, vaudevilles, &c. &c. ad infinitum. An English boy, and beg in friendless, as a waiter, then became lord and master of a famous game hotel corner of Cedar street—finally expanded his wings to a higher flight, and branching into every species of elegant refinement that could pamper the public taste and palate to boot, has become decidedly the most prominent man that ever flourished in this good city, in the way of getting up agreeable and entertaining amusements of every variety, and up scale festivals, banquets, &c. &c. In his line he is decidedly one of the "Heads of the People."

Post Allison - - - - - - - - 300,000

The progenitor of the Posts was an humble mechanic, among the early English settlers of Suffolk co., L I, and thence the family soon after located at Hempstead, Queens co. Joel and Jotham Post (both deceased), brothers of Allison, were, together with the late distinguished Dr. Wright Post, (another brother) sons of a highly respectable butcher. Wright's early lessons in the shambles gave him, probably, his strong taste for and afterwards eminence in, anatomy. Joel and Jotham, about 30 years since, carried on a great stroke in the drug line; then smashed; but a few years after built a magnificent store and warehouse, &c; launched larger than ever into the vending of apothecary stuffs, and, together with Waldron B., (son of one of the parties) accumulated a very large estate, on which their families are now luxuriating in the fauxbourgs of our new made quality in the purlieus of Upper Broadway.

What the soubriquet of doctor had reference to except to certain veterinary reminiscences connected with Nathaniel's early reputed occupations at some livery stable in Boston, we know not. If he was an ostler, however, he seems to have become an adept in something more than horse-flesh, and learned how to crack a good bargain in the way of money changes and brokerages, in which line, at New York, he rose by persevering industry to be the head and founder of the celebrated banking house of Prime, Ward & Sands, &c.

Parish Daniel - - - - - - - 250,000

Parish Henry - - - - - - - 700,000

This family sprang from an honorable root, a surgeon of the British Navy, who about two centuries ago located in this province. A romantic incident connects with Dr. Parish:—In one of the earliest commercial adventures from a neighboring village to the south, and in which a venerable lady, the proprietor of the vessel and her cargo of cider and apples, went passenger, accompanied by a beautiful daughter, Dr. Parish also was invited to act as navigator. At Ocracoke Inlet they saw the head of a celebrated pirate nailed to the bowsprit of a vessel of war; and, on their return were overtaken by a storm which, but for the doctor's seamanship, would have consigned them all to the deep. For this he received the hand of the fair young damsel on board, and thus became a denizen of this province But from that day to this, the generations have never been blessed with worldly prosperity until in the persons of Henry and his brothers.

The ancestor fixed himself at the entrance of the Infernal regions, it may be said of the offspring above, that he legitimately the three-headed Cerberus who has charge of the gates and keys to those dungeons and penitentiaries which open to criminals on earth a temporary purgatory. Richard is a veritable knight of the old school; a perfect chevalier—has shot his man in duello in the heat of being out of the great democratic Jefferson triumph and in recherche politesse and refined courtesy of manner he is decided y the most fascinat ng man that ever figured so high and so long in a l the bitterest broils of party excitement for the last 40 years. He possesses that true art of the gentleman which in truth is nature, the "ars celare artem," and in whom the perpetual smile of serenity, and gentle suavity of manner never appear assumed or designed, but sincere and heartfelt. This, with a brilliant, strong intellect, has given him his peculiar power and ascendancy as the first political leader of his day.—Though subtle in diplomacy, no false pity or disparaging sinister thought could ever dilute or reverse his irrevocable and luminous decisions on the bench.

Rogers Dr J. Smyth . . . 100 000

The wealthiest and most "distinguee" of all the Rogers family of this city, was Moses, a smart little tailor of Stamford, Conn., that itinerated all along the villages of the Sound during the revolution, and followed in the train of the Sutlers of the British troops wherever they were quartered. Moses, however, with his brothers Henry and Nehemiah, had like their brother Snip of the Rhinelander family, too vaulting an ambition and too great a thirst for money in those adventurous and troublous times to be confined to the goose and thimble, and therefore did they embark their avoi in the privateering business — Taence Nehemiah's promotion to a red-coat in the British line, and hence the wealth of many tories is much of it legitimately belonging to ruined whig families.

Saltus Francis - - - - - - 300,000

He and "Old Nick," or the General, as they call his brother, who has been a fixture at the City Hotel coteries of old bachelors for half a century gone, are sons of a respectable sea-captain, dec'd, of old Dutch Knickerbocker extraction. Nicholas and Francis are iron merchants. "Gin'ral" Nicholas has survived several generations of the old boys of the olden time, and is still as bright as a morning lark, and a most inveterate and impassioned admirer of "vimmen and vine." Who has not heard him recount his exploits in Russia, his intimacy with the Emperor Nicholas, his namesake, and above all, listened to his enchanting warbling of "Sweet Lullaby!"

The Schermerhorns are Dutch or German, and have risen to note within about a century past, as mechanics, small tradesmen, merchants, &c., keeping aloof from all entanglements of party strife or otherwise, and nicely husbanding the abundant fruits of their laborious toil, which they have doubled by frequent alliances with other opulent families, the Jones, &c., of their own grade.

Schuchardt Frederick - - - - - 200,000

Sharp Peter - - - - - - 100,000

Sharpe & Sutphen made their money honestly by vending whips and cowhides of every denomination, when horse and ox flesh were in greater repute than they have been since they have been blown off the course by the fire horses of steam. Peter Sharpe was once a great man in the old Democratic ranks, and became Speaker of the Assembly.

Stevens Horatio G. - - - - - - 150,000
Brother of "Alderman Sam." William, John, &c.—Their father Maj. Gen. Ebenezer Stevens, was a meritorious and gallant officer of the old continental line of the army of the revolution, and as Major commanded the artillery with deadly effect in several bloody encounters.—How honorable to Major Stevens to rise to that point from out of the ranks where it is said he enlisted as a private soldier, leaving his tools as a journeyman carpenter to take up the sword and battle axe for liberty. His sons have many of them inherited much of his inborn energy and power of mind. The Stevenses so celebrated in engineering, and sons of Col. Stevens, of Hoboken, are a totally different family.

Of a Long Island family, of great respectability. The brother Benjamin, a very demure and over pious man in religious professions, but a bitter old Federalist was he in the politics of the olden time.

Strong Mrs James - - - - - 250,000
She was a Remsen, we think, and from hence her great estate.

Sturges Jonathan - - - - - - 150,000

Stuyvesant Peter G. - - - - - 2 500,000
His ancestor, Governor-General and Admiral Von Peter Stuyvesant, that redoubtable little fiery gentleman, whose portraiture is so graphically touched by Diedrich Knickerbocker, and who, as the last of the Dutch dynasty, went out uproariously, a true martinet, subjecting all his vassals to courts martial, military flogging, &c., if they but dared to look at his nurtures, is so familiarly known in the history of New York, that this line suffices. Gov. Nicoll, from England, who brought the little gentleman to his bearings, omitted one thing, viz: to make him disgorge some of his cruel exactions, but Peter took the oath to the Gorgon banner of St. George, and doffed the beavertail and windmill escutcheon of Dutch authority, and thus retaining his rich cabbage gardens at Corlear's Hook and Bowery, hid himself away as snug as a mouse in a cheese. The generations from him are all baptized in the lace shirt in which he was christened. They inherit and keep too, the SILVER spoon.

Thompson David - - - - - - 100,000

Thompson Jonathan - - - - - 250,000
An apostle of the "old guard" of democracy, and comes from that vigorous nursery of such material, "Old Suffolk." He was a long time our respected Collector.

Thorne Herman - - - - - 1 000,000
This is the "Colonel," the very pink and glass of fashion in the Parisian circles. His old quaker ancestors of Flushing and Cow Neck would open their eyes to enter his gorgeous private chapel at his imperial mansion in the French capital. What changes in the wheel of fortune, from an humble purser in the navy? But Herman can fall back to earliest English history for the high rank of his ancestry, whatever the world may think of his fashionable follies. He begins, we hear, to sicken of the heartlessness of the life he is leading. Better come home and look to his relatives and friends here.

Tileston Thos. - - - - - - 100 000

Tillou F. R. - - - - - - - 150,000
A self made man in the law; his father being a long time in the humble capacity of one of the Mayor's police marshals. This son married a sister of that remarkable genius and first-of American poets, Dr. Joseph Rodman Drake—"Croaker senior."

Tisdale Samuel T. - - - - - - 100,000

Titus Wm. M. - - - - - - - 100,000
Of an old quaker family of Long Island.

Todd Wm. W. - - - - - - - 100,000
Of a New York family we believe; long distinguished democratic merchants.

Vanderbilt Cornelius - - - - - 250,000
Of an old Dutch root. Cornelius has evinced more energy and "go aheadativeness" in building and driving steamboats, and other projects, than ever one single Dutchman possessed. It takes our American hot suns to clear off the vapors and fogs of the "Zuyder Zee," and wake up the phlegm of a descendant of old Holland. Put on the coals and steam and flare up for Stonington!

Respectable old Dutch family, from Jamaica, Long Island.

Van Schaick M. - - - - - - 200 000
Of a respectable Dutch family of Albany, and married the daughter of the rich Jno. Hone, and moved here. Has been a Senator.

Varian Isaac L. - - - - - - 200,000
Of the very oldest of the Dutch "Mynheers" who, some two centuries since, under, probably, Gov. Peter Minuit or Gov. Wm. Kieft, located with the Dyckmans, &c., as honest mechanics or farmers at Harlem, upon the outskirts of the island of Manhattan, Manahattas or Manhatoes, as this great city was variously called. There this colony, charmed with the muddy marshes of Spitendevil creek, so much like old Holland, remained and burroughed, and there they are to-day, till party strife has dragged some of them out into places of high prominence, like our late Mayor, Isaac; their harmless, industrious life being better political capital to any party than collegiate learning, as Isaac's success has proved, and his good judgment and plain democratic simplicity of manners weighing down all the disparagements of defective orthography and bad grammar.

A young man of Rhode Island of good birth, launched his bark with the true spirit of a New England boy on the wide waters of the ocean, and after buffeting the wave of every sea, from the Pacific and her summer gales to Asia's perfumed isles and the angry Atlantic, returns long before he has reached his prime, bringing home with him the huge fortune made by his own hands and by bold adventures, and reaching to near a million. Many is the lasso which wiley dowagers and smouching old beldames have thrown out to noose this Chinese Moose or Mandarin of the first water, but it won't do; he is not a Giraffe to be caught by such bait, for he sees the drift and measures the breadth of simpering twaddle driven to its last shuffle. William prefers to enjoy the luxury of his own palankin and punka solus "pour le present," and gong music is more delicious to his ears than bella voce in the sweetest cavatina of Norma. PREFACE TO THE SIXTH EDITION.

To render this publication more interesting to the general reader, we have procured from various authentic sources, brief genealogical and historical or biographical notices of some of the more remarkable men and families in this community, into whose hands wealth has concentrated. We have endeavored to do equal and exact justice to the parties, and have deemed that we have been rendering an especial service to those, more particularly, who by honest and laborious industry have raised themselves from the obscure and humble walks of life, to great wealth and consideration. If there be, by any possibility, any erroneous statements, we pledge ourselves to correct them in our next edition. Our aim has been to wound the feelings of no one, but to do strict justice to all, and to tell the whole truth and nothing but the truth. This edition has been carefully revised, and almost every biographical notice entirely re-written so as to remove whatever errors and objectionable remarks had crept into the former editions. It has been found necessary to exclude several names, while new names to the amount of nearly one-third the whole number in the book have been added to this edition. There has been added also a large quantity of interesting biographical and historical matter, as derived from the consultation of books and living authorities; so that the work may now be regarded as complete and accurate as its nature and scope admits.

New York, January, 1845.

Entered according to Act of Congress, in the year one thousand eight hundred and forty-five,

In partnership with Garrit A. Dunscomb, constituting the firm of John H. Abeel & Co. iron merchants, one of the oldest houses in the city.

Adams John - - - - - - 300,000

Of Irish descent, who by industry and integrity as a merchant in the dry goods line, has acquired a respectable fortune, which he enjoys with the respect of all who know him. He is President of the Fulton Bank. He married a daughter of John Glover, deceased, some twenty years since, by whom he has received some property. See Mrs. Fisher.

Addison Thomas - - - - - 150,000

A distinguished pencil-case maker; a pioneer in this, and made his money by industry. The present ever-pointed pencil-case was first made by him, and owes its form to his ingenuity.

Adee George - - - - - - 100 000

Son of William below, and a partner of the firm of Adee, Timpson & Co.

Adee William - - - - - - 200 000

An auctioneer, and formerly senior partner in the firm of Adee, Timpson & Co. From Westchester Co. Began life as a dry good merchant, and has now retired from business. A very worthy man who has made all his money by active industry, and the most honorable and upright course in business.

Ainslie Robert - - - - - - 100,000

Formerly a merchant, and worth this sum by his wife, a daughter of Robert Lennox, deceased.

Akerley S. Dr. - - - - - - 150,000

Formerly an eminent Physician, who distinguished himself when the yellow fever was raging. Now retired.

Allen Stephen - - - - - - 400,000

A man who without money, without family connexions, and without education, has made his way to independence in fortune, and to high public stations. He began life a poor sailor-boy—afterwards was a sail-maker, and finally kept one of the largest sail-lofts in the city. In his business he was industrious, scrupulously exact, and rigid in justice. By his reputation for integrity, he procured large accessions to his business. He was made Mayor of the city in 1821, and re-elected for two successive years, and afterwards a Senator of the state, and a state Commissioner of the Croton Water Works, in which capacity his powerful influence did much toward the success of this great enterprise. Mr. Allen is an energetic and decided man, always adopting a policy of his own, and carrying it out with great self reliance. He is just but not generous; and in mind and manners rude and unpolished. At the time of difficulty in the New York Life Insurance and Trust Co. he was made the president.

Alley Saul - - - - - - 250 000

The intimate friend of S. Allen, and the two consult each other on every matter of interest to either. He was born in Providence, R. I., where he learnt the trade a of Cabinet Maker, and subsequently carried on the business at Charleston, S. C., where he failed through the sole fault of his partner. Mr. Alley came to this city and undertook a commission business in cotton and domestic goods. His creditors at Charleston having confidence in him were his first patrons, and among them Mordecai Cohen, a rich Jew, entrusted him with large consignments of cotton. In a few years he paid his creditors, and by business tact, integrity, and industry, has amassed his wealth. He retired from business several years since. Mr. Alley is an example of a man of strong mind pushing his way through the world without the benefits of education and under many difficulties.

Alstyne John - - - - - - 200 000

Of the firm of Alstyne & Dykers, rich brokers in Wall street.

Ames Barret - - - - - - 100,000

Formerly of the firm of Ames & Witherell, iron-dealers. A new England man—made all his money and retired from business. He was in business at the South.

Andariese Barnet - - - - 100,000

An excellent Tailor and a very amiable man.

Anderson Abel T. - - - - - 200 000

A respectable lawyer, who inherited most of his property from his father, who acquired his fortune in the manufacture of boots and shoes.

Anderson Henry J. - - - - - 100,000

The respected Professor of Mathematics in Columbia College.

Andrew Henry - - - 100,000

Native of Scotland. made his fortune in the Carpet trade, was prominent in the Whig ranks, and sent to the Assembly of this state some years since; a very good citizen.

Anthon Charles - - - - - 100 000

A brother of John, and professor of Latin language and literature in Columbia College. Mr. Anthon has published many works; the one most widely known is Anthon's Classical Dictionary. Mr. Anthon has a popular reputation as a scholar, and is a most learned man. In his Classical Dictionary, and other works, he has been charged with having made too free use of the labors of others.

Anthon John - - - - - - 300,000

His father was a very respectable and learned physician of this city, and born of German parents. The sons of Dr. Anthon have distinguished themselves; John as a lawyer, Henry as a divine, and Charles as a scholar, and professor of the Latin language and literature in Columbia College. They all received something from their father, but John by the adoption of a more lucrative profession, and especially by his marriage with the daughter of a rich auctioneer, John Hone, possesses much the largest fortune.

Appleton Daniel - - - - - 100,000

Of the firm of D. Appleton & Co., booksellers and publishers.

Appleby Leonard - - - - - 100,000

Arcularius George - - - - - 300,000

Born of German parents, and, with his brother Phillip, obtained his wealth as a baker, in which business he has been famous for many years, and in which he still continues. He is a man much respected for his numerous good qualities. Gen. Henry A. late Commissary General of the state, is one of his sons.

Arnold Aaron - - - - - - 250,000

An Englishman who brought money with him from England, and has been in the retail dry goods business in Canal street, and now in partnership with his son-in-law Constable, an Englishman also.

Aspinwall Wm. H - - - - - 400,000

Of the firm of Howland & Aspinwall, shipping merchants. The father of Mr. Aspinwall has long been known as an intelligent and shrewd broker, and is of an ancient and honorable family. Mr. Aspinwall has a beautiful seat on Staten Island, and his residence in this city is very valuable.

Astor John Jacob - - - - - 25,000,000

John Jacob Astor is classed, by those who know him best, not only among the richest but also among the truly great men of the world. The talent which in another age, and in another state of society, was exercised in the art of war, is now to a great extent engaged in the peaceful occupations of the counting-room. War has been a great field for the developement of great talents. But commerce affords scope for a greater variety of talent, and is a field on which the most gigantic genius, and the most soaring ambition may expend themselves in unlimited conquests. In this department of human action Astor has displayed a great mind. Landing on our shores as a common steerage passenger—a poor uneducated boy—a stranger to the language and the people—he has by the sole aid of his own industry, accumulated a fortune scarcely second to that of any individual on the globe, and has executed projects that have become identified with the history of his country, and which will perpetuate his name to the latest age. He was born in July, 1763, in the village of Waldorp, near Heidelberg, in the Duchy of Baden, Germany. His father was a very worthy man and held the office of bailiff. At the age of eighteen young Astor, on the eve of leaving his home for a foreign land, resolved to be honest and industrious, and never to gamble. In March, 1784, he landed at Baltimore, a steerage passenger, having sailed from London in November, and been detained by the ice three months. On his voyage he became acquainted with a fellow countryman of his, a furrier, who induced Mr. Astor to learn this art. The main portion of Mr. Astor's property at this time consisted of seven flutes from his brother's manufactory, at London, which, with a few other articles of merchandize, he sold, and invested the small proceeds in furs, and commenced learning the fur-trade. He was soon after engaged as clerk in the fur establishment of Robert Bowne, the first cousin of Walter's father, (see Walter Bowne,) a good old quaker, who prized Mr. Astor very much for his untiring industry and fidelity. Subsequently, by the aid of a few thousands from his brother Harry, a rich Bowery butcher, he engaged in business for himself, associated with the late Cornelius Heyer. Afterwards he became associated with Mr. Smith, the father of Gerrit Smith. At the close of the revolutionary war, Oswego, Niagara, Detroit, and other posts being in possession of a foreign power, a serious embarrassment was thrown in the way of the fur trade. Soon after Mr. Astor entered the business, in 1794–5, by a treaty these posts were surrendered, when, contemplating the grand opportunity then offered to him, he said, "Now I will make my fortune in the fur-trade." His prediction was verified. Astor, with an industry and sagacity unparalelled, improved his opportunity, and after the lapse of six years, during the first year of the present century, he had amassed something like $250,000 dollars. By the natural course of accumulation, this sum, at the present time, would have amounted to $6,000,000—but in Mr. Astor's hands it has increased to more than four times that amount. Nine years later, at the age of forty-five, Mr. Astor founded the American Fur Company, for the purpose of competing with the powerful British associations, which were in a fair way to monopolize the traffic in furs throughout the Northern and South Western portions of our continent. The outposts of this new company stretched into new and hitherto untrodden fields, and secured the richest spoils of beaver, otter, and buffalo. It had indeed previously as well as now been the policy of Mr. Astor to extend his conquests into new territories. The projection and establishment of this company did not satisfy his gigantic intellect. His grand project of the Astoria settlement was now formed. It was his design to establish a series of forts along the Pacific Ocean, and on the Columbia River, in connexion with our government, and thus monopolize the fur trade west of the Rocky Mountains. The first post, Astoria, was established in 1810, by a party of sixty men under the command of Mr. W. P. Hunt. This settlement, which was destined to be the commercial emporium of the Northern Pacific, was to be supplied with commodities from New York, and the same vessel was also to convey supplies to the Russian trading settlements farther north, and receive furs in exchange. With the furs from the Russian posts, and from Astoria, she was to proceed to Canton, then the best market for furs, and return home with teas, silks, and nankeens. In the projection of this magnificent enterprize, Astor anticipated that the settlement would prove a bill of costs for the first two years, and that no considerable profits would be received in less than ten years. At the expiration of twenty years he counted on receiving a million of dollars annual profits. The Tonquin, the first, and the Lark, the third vessel, dispatched for Astoria, were lost, yet notwithstanding, the enterprise would not have failed, had not Astoria been sold to the agents of the British North West Fur Company, through the treachery of one of Mr. Astor's partners, a Scotchman named McDougal. Astoria had to struggle through many difficulties in consequence of being captured during the late war, and just as peace was declared, and as it was to be restored, it was wrenched from Mr. Astor's hands by the treachery of his partner. From the time of the establishment of the American Fur Company, Mr. Astor became largely engaged in commerce. His ships freighted with furs for France, England, Germany and Russia—and with peltries, ginseng, and dollars for China, now ploughed every sea, to receive these products of the New World and exchange them for the valuable commodities of the Old. Mr. Astor's instructions to his captains were minute and exceedingly particular. He evinced almost as intimate a knowledge of the various markets in which he traded, as though he had been a resident at each respective mart. In the distribution of his cargoes at home, and in exchanging his commodities with the natives, Mr. Astor exercised a minute inspection even to the smallest details, and seemed to possess an almost intuitive knowledge of the market, not only in the United States, but also in Canada. Yet Mr. Astor did not bestow at his counting-house more than half the time most merchants feel compelled to give their concerns. It has been remarked of him, by one of his intimate friends, a man of some eminence, that Mr. Astor, was capable of commanding an army of 500,000 men. During a good portion of Mr. Astor's active life, he resided in a large house in the lower part of Broadway, and lived in a style of princely magnificence, attended by servants from some of the various nations with which he traded, and among them some from the Empire of the Celestials. His house was furnished with the richest plate, and his apartments adorned with works of art, among which was a Cupid by Mignard, which was regarded as a work of rare merit, and for which Astor paid a princely sum.

Notwithstanding the magnitude and success of Mr. Astor's business operations, yet the greatest source of his wealth has resulted from the increased value of real estate consequent on the continued growth of the city. At an early day he foresaw the future greatness of this commercial emporium of the Western Continent, and was wont to convert two-thirds of his annual gains into real estate, not one foot of which he ever mortgaged. It has been his policy to invest in mortgages on the best property offered, and in case of fore-closure, which has often happened, he has bought the property in at much less than its real value. In this mode, together with the continually increasing value of real estate, in this city, he has multiplied his wealth far beyond the natural accumulation by the ordinary interest, and hence too the bulk of his property. Mr. Astor has vast tracts of land in Missouri, Wisconsin, Iowa, and other parts of the West, the prospective value of which is very great. The greater portion of his property is in real estate and mortgages in this city. Could Mr. Astor's property be kept unbroken and under its present management, it would become the largest individual estate ever known on the globe. The estimates of the value of his property given above is moderate; those knowing his affairs best placing it at $30,000,000; and some as high even as $50,000,000. His income on a moderete estimate must be $2,000,000 a year, or $166,000 a month, which is about $41,500 a week; $5,760 a day, $240 an hour, and $4 a minute. Mr. Astor has made a donation of $350,000 for a library in this city, the interest of which is to be expended in employing agents to purchase books, and in the erection of a building. Mr. Cogswell, late editor of the N. Y. Review, is the agent and librarian. Mr. Astor has two sons, Wm. B. and one who has been imbecile from his birth; one of his daughters became the Countess of Rumpff, and lately deceased at Paris, another (deceased) was married to Mr. Bristed, an Englishman, author of a work on the Resources of America, and now a clergyman at Bristol, R. I. A grandson Charles Bristed is at Cambridge, England.

Astor Wm. B. - - - - - - 5,000 000

The son of John Jacob, and holding a power of attorney for the transaction of all his father's business, and exercising generally a superintendence over that immense property of which he undoubtedly expects to be the principal heir. Yet Wm. B. has received much of his property from his deceased uncle, Henry Astor, long celebrated as a butcher in the Bowery, in which business he accumulated his wealth. The amount received from his uncle did not exceed half a million, yet by fortunate investments, chiefly in real estate, and by donations from his father, who has given him the Astor House, it has increased to this extraordinary amount.

Austen David - - - - - - 400,000

A distinguished auctioneer, who made money at a time when auctioneers reaped their $50,000 a year profit. By his marriage with a sister of John Haggerty, he received, no doubt, an accession to his fortune. At the present time auctioneers, like all others, can reap but slow profits, and that by careful industry, and close attention to business. Mr. Austen is an excellent business man, and a most estimable citizen.

Aymar Benjamin - - - - - 300,000

This, and the next below, his brother, are English descent, and self-made men, though of humble origin. They are very enterprizing merchants, and bear excellent characters as gentlemen and citizens. They have been principally engaged in West India commerce.

Is a Son of Dr. Samuel Bard, and fully retains the reputation of an honorable sire.

Barclay George - - - - - 150,000

Estimable son of the venerable Colonel Barclay, British Consul, deceased.

Barnum Phineas Taylor - - 150,000

The proprietor of the American Museum, and guardian of the celebrated Tom Thumb, was born in Danbury, Ct., where he was at one time engaged as a lottery dealer, and merchant, and afterwards editor and proprietor of an influential newspaper, entitled the Herald of Freedom, which, being free with the failings of orthodox pretenders, and making some rather severe strictures on Judge Dagget, then of the Supreme Court, brought down the ire of that venerable sinner, and Barnum was imprisoned for libel. The day of his liberation was celebrated by a grand gala scene and oration, and the martyr to universalism was nominated by his friends for Governor. Soon afterwards he came to this city, and soon became known as the exhibitor of Joice Heth. Subsequently obtaining possession of the American Museum, he became the proprietor, and meeting with Tom Thumb, he has made his fortune mainly by means of that juvenile wonder. Mr. Barnum is now in Europe, exhibiting Tom Thumb, by whom he is coining money.

Barrow Dr. - - - - - - 100,000

Barsalou Victor - - - - - 190,000

A Frenchman, and Importer of Wines and Brandies.

Barstow H. W. - - - - - 100,000

Battelle Joseph - - - - - 150,000

Of a Connecticut family, and of the firm of Eggleston & Battelle, iron merchants. Mr. Battelle has made a profitable use of his capital.

Beach M. Y. - - - - - - 250,000

Moses Yale Beach was born in Wallingford, Conn., a connection on his mother's side of Elihu Yale, Esq., founder of Yale College, and for many years Governor of the East India Company. At an early age he was apprenticed to the Cabinet making business, in Hartford, Connecticut, where, by over work, and working nights, managed to save, by the time he had attained his eighteenth year, $400, with which he purchased of his employer the remainder of his time, and commenced business on his own account in Massachusetts. Soon after he married, and has since then, passed through the rough and varied scenes of a business life. Soon after the commencement of the Sun newspaper, he purchased Mr. Wisner's interest, being one-half, paying for the experiment $5500 As soon as he found this to be a safe and permanent business, he bought out his partner, for which he paid $19,000. From this point, his star, or rather sun, has been steadily in the ascendant, and now we find him the publisher of the most extensively circulated newspaper upon the globe, and the principal stockholder in four Banks, all in good standing, and properous, besides doing under his own name a large amount of banking. For assistance in his unparalelled business, he has the services of five sons, brought up in active life under his own eye, and who may yet prove "chips of the old block."

Beekman Henry - - - - - 200,000

Descendant of Gov. W. Beekman, about 220 years since Dutch Governor of South Fort, on the Delaware. If any of the Dutch noblesse of the very earliest colonizations at New Amsterdam (now New York) remain, here is one who, like all the intermediate links from the Governor down, have nobly upheld the renown and rank of their ancestors. The Beekmans, however, have never been numerous. Two others of the family follow. Governor Beekman was one of those stalwart men, who, as early as 1653, demanded of the Holland government a liberal charter for this city, and it was given.

Beekman James W. - - - - - 100 000

Of the same family, and married a daughter of Dr. Phillip Milledoler, ex-President of Brunswick College.

Beekman John - - - - - 150,000

Of an ancient New York family.

Bloodgood Thomas - - - - - 100,000

Of an ancient family of New Amsterdam, who then spelt their names "Bloe'good."

Boardman David Estate of - - 200,000

Bogardus Robert, - - - - - 150.000

The Rev. Everardus Bogerdus was a great name in the time of our Dutch ancestors. Whether a descendant from Gen. Robert B., an eminent counsellor, we know not—but his native shrewdness and perseverance needed no ancestral dignities for his advancement. "Gas stock," 'tis said, consummated his fortune.

Bogart Eugene - - - - - 150.000

Descended from a Hugenot. Anterior to the American Revolution, Cornelius was a large land owner and merchant, leaving his business to his two sons, Henry C. and Nicholas C., who were among the largest merchants of their day; their business with London being very extensive. N. C. married a daughter of Myndert Schuyler, an eminent merchant of this city, and during the Revolutionary war moved to Tappan, Rockland Co. Andre was confined in his house, and Washington and other officers often visited him. He left two sons, Cornelius N. and David S. The former died a bachelor, and the latter was graduated at Columbia College in 1790, and settled as a Clergyman at Southampton, L. I., from 1798 to 1813, and then at Hempstead until 1825, when he came to this city, and died in 1839. One of his sons, Alwyn, is a physician in this city, and a daughter, Elizabeth, is distinguished as an authoress. The wife of David S. was a daughter of Jonas Pratt. Her brother Ebenezer, was taken a prisoner during the Revolutionary war, and carried to London, where he married a sister of Sir Benjamin West's wife, the daughter of Mrs. Wright, celebrated for her skill in wax modelling. Another brother, Col. Richard, was the officer who received the gallant Montgomery in his arms while expiring, at the siege of Quebec, Dec. 31, 1775. Eugene is the son of David S., and early entered into mercantile pursuits, in which he has attained his wealth, by the most honorable course of dealing. He married a daughter of David Beck, Esq., of this city. He has retired from business, leaving the brothers, Alex. A. and Orlando M., to succeed him in the firm of Bogart & Brothers, Commission Merchants.

Bogert Henry H. - - - - - 100 000

From Georgia, where he has a plantation, and in this city a merchant.

Bonneloux Laurent - - - - 100,000

A lynx-eyed, clear-headed French gentleman—a second Casimir Perrier, in the ability with which he conducts his private banking institution, and in the good sense with which he discourses upon the currency of the country.

Bonnett Peter - - - - - - 150,000

Boorman James - - - - - 500 000

Of the firm of Boorman, Johnston & Co., extensive iron merchants. He is president of the council of the University, and out of his liberality has endowed a professorship. An adopted daughter married Josiah Wheeler, a lawyer.

Bouchaud Joseph - - - - - 200,000

A French resident, who has become rich as an importer of French goods.

Bowne Walter - - - - - - 150,000

Of an ancient and very numerous Quaker family of L. I. John, who was born at Matlock, in Derbyshire, England, in 1627, with his father, Thomas, and a sister, came to Boston in 1649, and in 1651 they settled in Flushing. John married a daughter of Robert Field, of Flushing, a sister of the wife of Capt. John Underhill, and in 1661 built the house there, which has been occupied by his descendants until recently, when it passed into the possession of James Parsons, whose mother was the daughter John Bowne, the fourth, a lineal descendant of the first John, and is now occupied by Mr. Parsons. In this house, George Fox, in 1672, was entertained by Mr. Bowne, and his wife, who early became quakers. In 1662 Bowne was imprisoned for three months, and then sent to Holland for trial, by the notorious Governor Stuyvesant, on the charge of "procuring lodgings, for, and frequenting the Conventicles of the obstinate sect of Quakers." He was acquitted in Holland, and a severe reprimand administered to the Governor. Walter is the son of James, whose father, Samuel, was the grandson of John. Walter was elected Mayor of this city in 1828, which office he held for five successive years. Subsequently he was a State Senator, and was one of the U. S. commissioners for the erection of the Custom House. Mr. Bowne was, in early life, "an out-door under writer," and has been a merchant, in which line he has amassed much wealth in addition to his inheritance. His investments in real estate in this city have added much to his fortune. Mr. Bowne is universally respected for his integrity and virtues, and has ever been an influential man. Mary Franklin, the first wife of De Witt Clinton, was a descendant of the Bownes. Walter married Elizabeth Southgate, by whom he has two children; Nathan, who married Eliza Repelye, and Mary, the wife of John W. Lawrence, of Flushing. We think we might with safety add $100,000 to the present estimate.

Carmen Richard F. - - - - 250,000

Began life as a poor boy, making packing boxes for merchants, and laboring until ten or eleven o'clock every night. Accumulated some money, and commenced as a carpenter and builder, in which, by means of his untiring industry, integrity, and talent, he amassed means and reputation sufficient to enable him to make large contracts, in 1836, for rebuilding in the "burnt district." At the time of taking his contracts, wages and materials were high, but long before the completion of his work, the price of labor and materials had depreciated to such an extent, that he realised an immense profit. He has continued building, and has invested his proceeds in real estate, the value of which has greatly risen since his purchase. He has a beautiful seat at Fort Washington, in the upper part of the island, where he resides in the summer. He is now building a village two miles this side of Fort Washington, named Carmanville. In 1842 Alderman Carman was elected by the whigs of the twelfth ward, and held his seat for one year. Mr. Carman is one of those strong-minded men for whom nature has done more than education, and is, moreover, a very liberal and excellent man. No man is more respected.

Carnac Francis (estate of his daughters) 200,000

A gentleman, every inch of him—and but few such specimens of a highly educated merchant. Resided a long while in Paris, where he was held in great consideration both among his countrymen and the elite of French society, for his fine taste, classical acquirements, polished manners, and ready wit. He is yankee born, of great respectability, and after many ups and downs of life, and locating himself with his accomplished second wife at New York, his two beautiful daughters, just grown and wife, have come into the above inheritance, through death of a maternal great uncle.

Clinton Mrs. H (widow of Geo.) - 100,000

Mrs. Hannah Clinton, daughter of Walter Franklin, Esq., an eminent Quaker merchant of this city, from L. Island. Her husband was nephew to Vice President Geo. Clinton, and brother of the great Governor, Dewitt Clinton—"Satis est" for Clinton a household name—but the rich Franklin brothers, merchants of New-York, deserve a memento for the many noble ways in which they through intercession with the Tory authority and Lies an troops, were enabled generously to dispense their wealth to their poor miserable, suffering countrymen, the American prisoners confined in the Sugar House, Provost, &c. during the American Revolution. Mrs. Hannah C. is a sister also of Gov. Dewitt Clinton's first wife, descendant of the Bownes, by whom alone Gov. D. C. had issue.

Clinton Charles A. (Estate of his wife) 100 000

This oldest son of the ever to be lamented and never to be forgotten Governor Dewitt Clinton, every way worthy of that illustrious man, is happily placed beyond the reach of the pecuniary distress which that father heroically succumbed to for the sake of enriching ungrateful millions with the benefits of those magnificent works of internal improvement which immortalize his name. The estate of Mr. Charles A. Clinton comes through his marriage with a daughter of Jno. Hone.

Coster John G. (estate of) - - 700,000

Two brothers, John G. and Henry A., the former lately deceased, and the latter twenty years ago, are of a respectable family in Amsterdam, and began here as merchants soon after the revolution, and by honest industry amassed a great fortune. While Na- poleon held Holland, they, through confidential cor- respondence were enabled to know how far to push the trade thither, and thus in return importations of gin found so rich a harvest, that their wealth rapidly accumulated from that hour. They were gentlemen born and of irreproachable integrity. The millions the two brothers amassed is nearly all melted away before it has barely got into the hands of their chil- dren. Dr. Hosack, deceased, made a deep gouge into that of Henry's widow, but where is it?

Henry A. Coster left about $*,000,000, yet but little of it is left. John G. met with heavy losses through the instrumentality of his children who were unsuc- cessful in business. John H., a son, and Mr. Berry- man, a son-in-law, went into business as importers, and lost a large sum. Berryman and his wife are dead.

Coster John H. - - - - - 150 000

Delmonico (widow of John) - - 200 000

Her husband, with his brother Peter, established the celebrated French and Italian Restaurant. No parallel case of an Italian reaping such a fortune, has ever occurred in the history of this city. But if the best of fare and choice wines, and unceasing politeness to their guests merits fortune, they eminently deserve what they have earned. The Delmonicos are natives of that part of Switzerland which borders on Italy. They may be said to have first introduced into our city a taste for those fashionable comforts which can no where else be found but in the cuisine of a French Restaurateur. John bought a beautiful place on Long Island, where his widow and children resides. His paintings, mostly scripture pieces, are very extensive and valuable.

Harper & Brothers - - - - 500,000

This firm consists of four brothers, James, (the present Mayor, John, Joseph W. and Fletcher. They are of a respectable family on Long Island, and coming to this city, learned the Printer's trade. Jas. and John, under the firm of J. & J. Harper, after their time was out, commenced doing job work, and printing for Publishers. The distinguished house of Collins, Keese & Co., (now Collins, Brothers,) large publishers of school books, gave them employment. Getting out of work, they applied to the Collins for advice as to what book they should print The Collins gave them advice, and they printed a work which was successful, followed up by another fortunate book, until at length they became publishers, and finally their two other brothers being added, they enlarged their business under the firm of Harper & Brothers. They are now the most extensive publishers in this country, and their names, in the history of literature, will be associated with those of Galliane, Constable, Murray, and Longman. They have in different parts of America, from twelve to fifteen hundred booksellers acting as their agents, besides a large number of travelling clergymen, and other itinerants. So extensive is their business connexion that should they dispose of but one or two copies to each agency, they would be sure to pay the expenses of publication, and no matter what work they may publish, (and they have published several of the worst and most stupid books ever issued,) they are sure to dispose of, on an average more than two copies to each house with which they deal. They have a correspondence established not only with every considerable place in this country, but with cities abroad, where books are published, informing them of every work worthy of publication. They have besides in this city, and other parts of the United States, many literary men in their employment, to pronounce their opinion of manuscripts submitted for publication, to revise those that are imperfect, and to write notices and puffs for the more important newspapers and magazines which they have either directly or indirectly subsidized to their interest.

Hatch Geo. W. - - - - - - 100,000

Rawdon, Wright & Hatch are the celebrated bank engravers, and another sample of intelligent, spirited mechanics, making for themselves a name and a fortune incomparably more to be prized than the wealth which has been acquired too often by mere mercantile gambling. There is substance, and truth, and reality —something tangible, and definite, and susceptible of ocular demonstration and utility in the fruits of mechanics labors, but what visible means of livelihood, and what direct and practical utility do we see in many other professions, to wit: swindling stock operations, but which are yet deemed more reputable than the walks of mechanic life. The time is gone by, however, when dreaming speculators and fancy operators can any longer sneer superciliously at the "brawny arms" and "russet palms" of the honest laborer. Thus much has been done by breaking up a false system of credit, and by consequence, breaking up the nests of lounging, idle upstarts, that like mushrooms on a dung-hill, sprouted up out of the corrupt masses of rag-paper and spurious capital. May Rawdon and Hatch never lend their burin and mezzotinto to any paper that does no command yellow mint drops instanter at the counter on the very face of it. Mr. Hatch is half brother of Ex-Governor Throop, and to judge of his early prosperous career, cannot be said to have counted his chickens before they were hatched. Mr. Rawdon is a branch of the Irish family of Rawdon, Earl of Moira, who was so distinguished as a British partizan or cavalry officer during the revolutionary war.

Kellogg Edward - - - - - $100,000

Born in Litchfield Co., Ct., and began life a footpedlar, carrying trunks filled with tin pepper boxes and other Yankee notions. Being man a of genius, it was not long before he became a dry-good jobber in Pearl street, making $20,000 per annum nett profit. In 1837, at a time when by a legitimate business he had become worth half a million or more, he failed in consequence of heavy losses ($200,000 almost in a lump) by his southern customers, and by an unfortunate speculation in Elizabethport lots. He has, however, paid all his creditors, leaving a snug fortune for himself. He is the projector and mover of the Elizabethport speculation, owning a large part of the village. These were first laid out and bought by a company of stockholders who intended to build up a manufacturing village to rival Newark. Most of the stockholders failing to pay their instalments, Kellogg took their shares and became the chief shareholder. These lots cost him from $300 to $400 an acre. In addition to his estate in Elizabethport, Mr. Kellogg is an owner in the two steamboats plying between that place and this city, and has real estate here and in Brooklyn where he resides. He is now again engaged in the dry good jobbing business in Pearl st. Mr. Kellogg is no ordinary man, having in addition to his attention to a large business, acquired an education superior to many, who in early life have received what is falsely styled "a liberal education."

Kennedy David S: - - - - - 200,000

A highly respectable Scotch merchant, who obtained some addition to his fortune through his wife, the daughter of Robert Lenox.

Kent James - - - - - - 100,000

One of the most marked men of the times, the profound jurist, and long the celebrated Chancellor of this State, and whose opinions and commentaries, nay, mere words, are like pure gold, and law for all those who wish to know what law is. What a gratifying picture of a well-spent life is that of this universally beloved man in a green old age, enjoying the respect of friends, the delights of domestic society, and all the glorious vigor and sparkling brightness of that mannood which once adorned and could still adorn if not purify that bench, which would more deplore his loss but for the evation to a most important judicial station of that a le son for whose shoulders it would seem the father designed his spotless mantle.

Kermit Robert - - - - - - 200,000

Of a very old and most respectable New York family.

Kernochan Joseph - - - - - 450,000

Kingsland Daniel C. - - - - - 200,000

Kingsland R. - - - - - - 200,000

One of the oldest and richest firms in the hardware line, and a man of great respectability and high standing in this community, a modest gentleman that has calmly pursued "the even tenor of his way" without show or parade, and thus silently passed down the stream of time, every where beloved and honored. Such families how unlike are they to the fluttering, buzzing things of fashion. whose gilded wings collapse with the first shower that dims their sunshine, and "then are heard no more."

Kissam Richard (Estate of) - - 200,000

An estate honestly, nobly acquired in the surgical profession of which he stood undoubtedly at the head in his day, But few keener men in wit or with the knife could be found any where. His forte was lithotomy, in which his cures were truly wonderful. In after life he married and soon after died, leaving a large family of small children, to whom we believe his property was by will bequeathed.

Knapp Shepard - - - - - - 300,000

From New England and self made. He was formerly in the leather business with Jocob Lorrillard and thus acquired his property. In his dealing he was just, and is highly esteemed as a citizen. He is President of the Mechanics Bank.

Loubat Alphonse - - - - - 200,000

A French importer. Operated in matrimony very advantageously. Now retired.

Laurie George - - - - - 100,000

George and John L. for 30 years merchants, and bachelors, (originally from Scotland) and of the very first character and prime brand as to respectability. The universal consideration they enjoy in this community must be a comfort to them when they look back upon the bright and honorable career they have passed through, though neither, we hope, is yet too advanced into the yellow leaf to forswear and become a Benedict, which they both know they could easily do, and have only to say the word in these hard times, and Hymen stands ready to light his altar torch, and cupid to let fly from his quiver one of his most barbed arrows, that not even the tough texture of a bachelor's heart could resist.

Laverty Henry - - - - - 150,000

A very polished man. Has been a Dry Good jobber in Pearl stree., in which business he has made his fortune, and from which he has now retired. His parlor is hung with very excellent paintings, the production of his accomplished daughter's pencil.

Of a Long Island Quaker family, and with his brother Richard in the Dry Goods Jobbing business in Pearl street. Men of great worth.

Lawrence John B. (estate of) - - 300,000

A model-man of the old school gentlemen merchants is he. Of a very ancient house, of an old New York family, and though inheriting a large estate from his father, he pursued business with the ardor of youth, and doubled and trebled his property in the drug line, as the head of that celebrated firm, Lawrence, Keese & Co. But few such as he and the late Gen. Matthew Clarkson, and men of that high stamp and tone are now left.' The halls of our public charities tell of their benevolent deeds and the hours they have stolen from busy life to devote to their duties to the poor and suffering, to relieve the widow and the orphan, and to wipe the tear of sorrow from misery's pallid cheek.

Lawrence Joseph - - - - - 250 000

A brother of Cornelius W., and once a partner; now of the firm of Lawrence, Trimble & Co., a large Commission house. He married a rich heiress, daughter of Ald. Thomas S. Townsend.

Livingston Maturine - - - - 100,000

Though of the family of Livingston, which for a family so prolific and numerous as theirs is has been one of the most wealthy in the State, but little in he subdivision of multiplying generations fell to the share of Maturine, who marrying his cousin, daughter of General Morgan Lewis, above, has however acquired large opulence in perspective. The Livingstons began in this State about 160 years since in the person of a Scotch clergyman, who on a famous old white horse made his itinerations through the valley of the Mohawk tell with effect. From him sprang an intelligent, enterprising race, who in the next generation secured large landed estates, since manorial by their extent on both sides the Hudson River. Martin Van Buren commenced his career as a village lawyer at Kinderhook by undertaking to invalidate the Livingston titles, but their numbers and wealth were too much for him. Their names loom largely on our records; and after the Renselaers and the Dutch and English noblesse, they rank among the most distinguished families in the State.

Lorillard, (widow of Jacob,) - - 1,500,000

Three brothers, Jacob, Peter and George, were of an ancient Hugenot family, and all from nothing became rich—the two latter in the tobacco business. They are now all dead, Jacob and Peter leaving widows and children; Peter was a bachelor; Jacob was at one time in partnership with Gideon Lee and Shepherd Knapp. He left all his money to his widow. One daughter of Peter married T. Reynolds, bookseller, deceased; another, John D. Wolfe, of the firm of Wolfe & Bishop; and another, Lieut. Spencer, of the Navy, all three rich. Widow of Jacob resides at Bloomingdale, and her son Jacob resides with her.

Lorillard Peter Jun. - - - - - 1,000,000

Son of Peter, and now in the Tobacco business. He received some $200,000 from his uncle George.

Loubat Alphonso - - - - - 200,000

Lovett James - - - - - - 200,000

A retired sea captain, and afterwards a shipping merchant, originally from Rhode Island, and of the real grit that comes of late as of yore, from that little chivalrous spot that gave birth to a Perry and a Greene.

Ludlow Estate - - - - - - 300,000

Luff John Estate of - - - - - 200,000

A most capital man was this respectable German, and in the excellent quality of his bread and muffin. Jonas Humbert himself, aided by his electrical machine, was no cucumstance to him. Old Mr Luff had a pleasant word for every one as he rattled around from door to door in his long light baker's cart, which it seems to us is now become of the things that once were, and are found no more among our modern landaus and Berlins. With a becoming pride his children revert back with pleasure to the honest means by which their revered parent made by his own hands, so large an estate.

Ludlow Thos. W. - - - - - 300,000

By profession a lawyer, but receiving a large inheritance from his father, Thomas, he retired. The grandfather was a baker, and father was a marshal under the British rule, and a tory. A large present of wine was sent to Gen. Washington, which was confiscated, and came into the hands of Thomas W. The first of this wine was sold in 1828, and is now very valuable, if it can be found. The auctioneer is a cousin of the present Thos. W.

Maybee —— - - - - - - - 150,000

Mayer John - - - - - - - 100,000

It is rather as one of the firm of Thos. John & Jos. Mayer, manufacturers of Earthen Ware, Staffordshire, England, than as an individual, that the subject of this notice may be set down, as a man of wealth. Mr. Mayer is a high-minded, honorable man, and blessed with no ordinary share of prudence. As a man of business, he is prompt, and systematic, confining himself exclusively to his own affairs. Mr. M. inherited a good fortune from his father, who, from being a journeyman Tanner and Currier, at Newcastle, under Lyne, Eng., by years of prudence, economy and industry, rose to great wealth, and was respectfully chosen to fill the highest civic offices in his native town. Few men more richly merited success, and none were more happy in all the relations of social life, than Mr. M., senior.

Morris Gouverneur - - - - - 1,500,000

His father, the venerable and famous Gouverneur M., late in life married a Randolph, of Virginia, and left this, the only inheritor, rich. The Morris family of New York and New Jersey began on a large figure, and so continued to prosper for 160 years. Col. Lewis Morris, a celebrated English quaker merchant of Barbadoes, and friend of Wm. Penn, coming here to New York with his own ships and goods, and with his brother Richard M., making immediately purchases of large tracts on Long Island, at Harlem river, at Shrewsbury, &c., N. J. (hence Morristown and Morrisiana estate, the last the estate of the youngster above,) &c. And from this truly illustrious stock came all the Morrises hereabout and in New Jersey; and in their hands the patrimonial estates still rest, together with the household jewelry and plate for many generations back, which few families can say. The grandfather of the present Gouverneur (whose name was also Gouverneur,) inserted in his will that his son should not be educated in Ct., for the reasons that these yankees were too cute at bargains with their Dutch neighbors. Mr. Morris is a plain, unlettered farmer, who daily sends his milk to the city. Besides Morrisiana, an immense tract on the north bank of the Harlem River.—Mr. Morris has land and other stocks.

He married one of the daughters of Thomas Leggett, deceased. His two daughters are married to John and George Ring, Ship Chandlers.

Mott Dr. Valentine - - - - - 250,000

This distinguished Surgeon and Physician, is a descendant of Adam Mott, who, coming from England, and residing first at Hingham, Mass., became an inhabitant of Hempstead, L. I., 1655. Henry, the father of Valentine, was a Physician, and married the daughter of Samuel Way, at North Hempstead. At an advanced age he moved to this city, where he died in 1840. His only surviving son, Dr. Valentine, was born at Glen Cove, L. I., Aug 20, 1785. He was a student in the office of his relative, Dr. Valentine Seaman, and attended the medical lectures at Columbia College in 1840. In the spring of 1807 he went to London, and became a pupil of Sir Astley Cooper, and for two years attending the hospitals, and the lectures of the elder Cline Abernethy, C. Bell, Astley Cooper, Haighton Currie, and other distingui-hed teachers. He next visited Edinburgh, and heard the lectures of Gregory, Hooper and Playfair, and after having re-visited the lectures and hospitals of London, returned to New York, where he arrived in the fall of 1808, and met with great success in his profession. The next year he was made Prof. of surgery in Columbia College, and afterwards held the same position in the College of Physicians and Surgeons. He soon afterwards gave up his commission, and devoted his time exclusively to his practice. In 1818 he performed the operation of tying the arterior innominata within two inches of the heart This was an original operation—an exploit sufficient to make his name immortal. Sir Astley Cooper has said of him, that he has performed more great operations than any other man that ever lived. He was induced again to accept his professorship in the college, but in 1840 his health failing, he returned to Europe, travelling in England, France, and Egypt. The result of the observations, he has given in a book entitled "Travels in Europe and the East." During his absence, the Medical School of the N. Y. University was organized, and the professorship of surgery tendered to him, which he accepted on his arrival in 1840. The success of the school is unparalelled, and is, in a great measure, owing to the influence and reputation of Dr. Mott. He has accumulated his fortune mainly by his extensive and very lucrative practice, though his patrimonial inheritance was considerable. The family of Motts became Quakers in the time of George Fox.

A youth well esteemed, and only child of a rich father who got his money by hard knocks. But no family of Vermont nobility can hold up their heads higher than this.

Palmer Courtlandt - - - - - 500,000

From Connecticut, and commenced in the Hardware business in this city with a capital of $200, and besides having made the fortunes of several others, by setting them up in business, has attained for himself great wealth. He is a large holder of real estate, and is building to a considerable extent, having long since retired from active business. His second wife is a daughter of Richard Suydam, of the old firm of Suydam, Jackson & Co.

Palmer John I. - - - - - - 200,000

One of Scotland's enterprising sons who have found New York the most successful field for their monetary operations. He is President of the Merchants Bank.

Parish Daniel - - - - - - 250,000

Parish Henry (His brother) - 350,000

This family sprang from an honorable root, a surgeon of the British Navy, who about two centuries age located in this province. A romantic incident connects with Dr. Parish:—In one of the earliest commercial adventures from a neighboring village to the south, and in which a venerable lady, the proprietor of the vessel and her cargo of cider and apples went passenger, accompanied by a beautiful daughter, Dr. Parish also was invited to act as navigator. At the Ocracoke inlet they saw the head of a celebrated pirate nailed to the bowsprit of a vessel of war; and, on their return, were overtaken by a storm which, but for the doctor's seamanship, would have consigned them all to the deep. For this he received the hand of the fair young damsel on board, and thus became a denizen of this province. But from that day to this, the generations have never been blessed with worldly prosperity until in the persons of Henry and his brothers.

Parmly Eleazer - - - - - 200,000

Eleazer and his brother Jahial are the two most distinguished dentists in this country. Eleazer spent some time in Paris, where he attained the highest distinction in his art.

Parmly Jahial - - - - - 200,000

The brother of Eleazer, above.

Paulding William - - - - - 300,000

Former mayor, &c., of the democratic school, and alleged descendant of Paulding, one of the captors of the British spy Major Andre. That sterling continental soldier little imagined that one of his descendants would become enriched by intermarriage with one of the rankest tory families of the revolution—to wit, a Rhinelander. (See below.)

Payne Thatcher T. - - - - - 100,000

Served a severe apprenticeship to struggling up hill labor, as a school teacher, and became of great eminence as a linguist and correct scholar—being of a family part Jew from the east end of Long Island not far from Montauk. Is brother of the justly celebrated Jno. Howard Payne. Thatcher, however in fortune has taken the wind out of the sails of the wandering poet, who has as much as ever to do to get his crust—for Thatcher now has his liveries and his valets; and drives his carriage, and lives in snuff "per force" of a most capital speculation he made in marrying the rich young blooming widow of Mr. Baily, a rich merchant, dec'd, that left a plumb nearly to her, and we hope Thatcher, who is a lucky rogue, don't forget his poor relations if he has any.

Pearsall Frances (widow of Thomas C.) 1,500,000

Her husband made money as a Druggist, and realized a princely fortune by investing in real estate. The widow lives in magnificent style in Waverly Place, and supports two or three sons-in-law in good style; and what is of more importance still, has one or two daughters yet on hand. Her husband was of a Long Island Quaker family, and she the daughter of the rich merchant Thomas Buchanan, deceased.

Pearsall Thomas W. - - - - 300,000

No relation to the above. A retired Auctioneer, and made money in the business, and besides got $76,000 by his wife, the daughter of Thomas Leggett, deceased. He is a Quaker.

Phelps Anson G. - - - - - 1,000,000

He was of Connecticut, and learned the tinner's trade. He went to the South, pedling the workmanship of his own hands, and hauled in the tin as fast as he shoved it off. Subsequently he became a merchant in the tin, iron, and copper line in this city, and afterwards a partner with Mr. Peck, constituting the firm of Phelps and Peck, whose store fell in 1832, by which eight persons were killed. Mr. Phelps has taken into the firm, Messrs. James, Dodge and Stokes, sons-in-law, and the two former once his clerks; Mr. Peck having now retired. these three, together with his own son, is now associated with him under the firm of Phelps, Dodge & Co. In 1843, Fitch Smith commenced laying out a village for factories, in his native town, Derby, Ct. The village has grown to a little city, and is called Birmingham. Phelps, Dodge & Co., here erected the most extensive copper works in the U. S., and they contract with the government to supply it with nearly or quite all the copper used for the national vessels. In addition to this, Mr. Phelps has individually bought of Mr. Smith a large share of the water privileges of this place, which are very valuable. Mr. Phelps is a large owner of the iron mines of Pennsylvania, and owns also a part of the Missouri mountain, a valuable mountain of Iron ore. He owns altogether, perhaps half a million of acres. The firm of which he is a partner, is doing the most extensive business in that line of any house in America. In 1837 this house suspended payment for a short period, at a time when they were worth a million and a half. Mr. Phelps is now President of the Colonization Society, and since his providential escape when his store fell, has been distinguished for his deeds of charity.

Rhinelander Bernard (Estate of) 200,000

The Rhinelanders, for fifty years past, among the richest of the rich in this city, were but humble tailors and shoemakers in the revolution. The tories who said in the city feathered their nests under the protection of the British flag. Many of them engaged in taking shares in privateering on the rebel merchant ships—and thus were huge fortunes made by the native born enemies of our independence out of the hard earnings of suffering families of patriotic whigs thus reduced to ruin.

Ridgway John - - - - - - 150,000

As this gentleman has a branch of his establishment in this city, although not a resident, it is proper to give him a place. Mr. Ridgway is a China and Earthen Ware Manufacturer, at Camerdom, Staffs., England. He succeeded, in company with his brother, to the business of his father, who, from small beginnings rose to great opulence. Few men in their sphere, are more worthy than Mr. R. to be ranked among the benefactors of their race. Just, benevolent and liberal, he has not only succeeded in elevating the character of the several hundred workmen he employs, but has rapidly increased his fortune, without oppressing the laborer.

Stagg Benj. - - - - - - 100,000

Stephens Benjamin - - - - 500 000

A carpenter of a New Jersey family. He was very industrious, a good workman, and has made all his money by hard toil and shrewd management. He built the old state prison in this city, and was a large contractor for building. One of his sons is the distinguished traveller Stephens.

Stephens John L. - - - - - 100,000

The distinguished Traveller, and the son of Benjamin, above. He has made nearly or quite this sum by his books, in addition to what he may have received and expects from his father.

Stevens Alex. H. - - - - - 150,000

A surgeon of some repute, and son of General Ebenezer S. The Doctor's three successive marriages to rich heiresses has, we imagine, put more money in his purse than amputating tumors or tying up arteries.

Stevens Horatio G. - - - - . 150,000

Brother of "Alderman Sam," William, John, &c. Their father, Maj. Gen. Ebenezer Stevens, was a meritorious and gallant officer of the old continental line of the army of the revolution, and as Major commanded the artillery with deadly effect in several bloody encounters. How honorable to Major Stevens to rise to that point from out of the ranks where it is said he enlisted as a private soldier, leaving his tools as a journeyman carpenter to take up the sword and battle axe for liberty. His sons have many of them inherited much of his inborn energy and power of mind. The Stevenses so celebrated in engineering, and sons of Col. Stevens, of Hoboken, are a totally different family.

Stevens John H. - - - - - 100,000

Stevens Robt. L. - - - - - 350,000

Stevens John C. - - - - - 300,000

Robert L. and John C. are sons of Col. Stevens, deceased, of Hoboken. The eminent ability of Robert, as one who alone has inherited the mantle of his friend Fulton, is two well known to need remark.

Stevenson John B. - - - - - 100,000

An old Physician.

Stewart Alexander T. - - - - 800,000

The celebrated Dry Good Merchant of Broadway whose shop is the grand resort of the fashionables He has lately bought Washington Hall, which he intends to fit up for stores. He married a Miss Mitchell a lady of some property.

Stewart Robert - - - - - - 200,000

One of two Scotch brothers, who, by marriage inherits the great old Dutch estate of the Lispenards, near Canal street.

Steward John . - - - - - 300,000

But 30 years a resident here, and by the force of his own straight-forward, clear-headed sagacity in the dry goods line, &c., has acquired near half a million.

Steward John Jr. - - - - - 100,000

Stewart Lispenard - - - - - 500,000

He is now possessed of the remains of the Lispenard estate, in addition to a large amount received by his wife, a daughter of L. Sailes, deceased, a native of France, who amassed a large fortune in this city, by cautious loans during great pressures, and by rigid economy.

Alexander Stewart, the father of Lispenard, came to this country with his elder brother, Robert, from Scotland. They commenced as brokers, and acquired some property, when Robert failed, paying a pistareen on a pound—that is one seventh, and put his property into possession of his brother, with the agreement that the survivor should receive the estate belonging to both. Previous to this, Alexander having married a daughter of Lispenard, of an old Dutch family, and owning a large tract of meadows and marshes in the vicinity of where Canal street now is. On the death of Lispenard, Alexander Stewart came into possession of a portion of this estate, by his wife, and also a good portion of that of her two brothers, Leonard and Anthony, who died, after having parted with the best part of their fortune; each leaving heirs. Mr. Stewart had also the entire possession of the estate of his imbecile sister-in-law, who left him her fortune, by will. Alexander dying, this estate came into the possession of his brother Robert, who, on his decease, a short time since, bequeathed it to his nephew, Lispenard, the only son of Alexander. James Watson Webb, his brother, an officer in the army, and M. Stewart, a chaplain in the navy, married daughters of Alexander Stewart. Since the death of Alexander S., there has been much legal controversy in regard to this estate, particularly between several of the heirs of old M. Lispenard, and those of Alexander Stewart on the one hand, and Robert and Lispenard Stewart on the other. Lispenard professes to hold the estate which, though immense, is incumbered, solely for the benefit of those having legal or equitable claims on it. Among his heirs is included "St. John the book and magazine pedlar," an industrious, honest, and worthy man, who has for some years pursued this calling, and is generally known. Has but one eye, having by accident been deprived of the other.

St. John Samuel (estate of) - - 300,000

Lately deceased in New Haven, Ct. He was early in life a Tailor, and made the bulk of his fortune by fortunate investments in real estate, and by loaning during pressures. He was once Alderman of the second ward.

Storm Isaac T. - - - - - 200,000

Early in life he left the place of his nativity, somewhere in Dutchess Co, and came to this city. It is said of him that about the first enterprise into which he embarked, was the purchasing of a keg of beeswax, the profits on which gave him a start, while a clerk in a grocery store, and undoubtedly formed the nucleus around which his present ample fortune has gathered. "Industry and economy" have always been his motto. He is now one of the very oldest grocers in this city.

Storm Garret - - - - - - 500,000

An old retired Grocer, who made his money by honest industry. Knickerbocker.

Sturges Jonathan - - - - - 200,000

Stuyvesant Peter G. - - - - 4,000,000

His ancestor, Governor-General and Admiral Von Peter Stuyvesant, that redoubtable little fiery gentleman, whose portraiture is so graphically touched by Diedrich Knickerbocker, and who, as the last of the Dutch dynasty, went out uproariously, a true martiner, subjecting all his vassals to courts martial, military flogging, &c., if they but dared to look at his surliness, is so familiarly known in the history of New York, that this line suffices. Gov. Nicoll, from England, who brought the little gentleman to his bearings, omitted one thing, viz: to make him disgorge some of his cruel exactions, but Peter took the oath to the Gorgon banner of St. George, and doffed the beaver-tail and windmill escutcheon of Dutch authority, and thus retaining his rich cabbage gardens at Corlaer's Hook and Bowery, hid himself away as snug as a mouse in a cheese. The generations from him are all baptized in the lace shirt in which he was christened. They inherit and keep too, the SILVER spoon.

Targee John - - - - - - 150,000

A young French adventurer, silversmith by trade, emigrated, some fifty years ago, to this country, and by good conduct and industry, and great shrewdness as a politician in the democratic ranks, to which he, as it turned out, wisely attached himself, rendered himself eminently conspicuous in that party, and for his untiring devotion to their interests, was richly rewarded with sundry profitable posts of honor. So distinguished had he become from the Jeffersonian triumph of 1800 upward, that Vice President Tompkins made him his confidential friend, and he was everywhere looked upon for a time as the most influential leader, if not chief of the party in this quarter of the state. Hence during the struggles to supplant Clinton, the poet Croaker wrote thus:—

"I'm sick of General Jackson's toast,
Canals are nought to me;
Nor do I care who rules the roast,
Clinton or John Targee."

Van Rensellaer (Estate of) Stephen - 10,000,000

The late Patroon Van Rensellaer, of Albany, the lord of the manor Rensellaerwyck, the most ancient and distinguished name of the old Dutch gentry who came hither shortly after the discovery of the Hudson river, 1609. The first patroon of Lord Van Rensellaer, owned near thirty miles square, both sides of the river, at, and above, and below Albany; the estate then comprehending that city, then a fortress, now a free town and capital of the State, while the manor and all its feudal privileges, and the Helderberg mountains and its hardy tenants still do homage to the "noble house of Van Rensellaer." No family in America has so long kept together an estate to be compared with this in value, extent and princely hereditaments. Next to John Jacob Astor's it is the wealthiest in the country. Besides the "lordship" the late Patroon owned hundreds of lots in New York city; among others the block where Niblo has his garden. This estate is now divided between two sons, one of whom owns Albany county and the other Van Rensellaer county.

THE WEALTH AND BIOGRAPHY

OF THE

WEALTHY CITIZENS

OF

THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

In presenting to the public the Eleventh edition of a work which has commanded so much attention, we would call in mind the history of the Book itself. The first edition originated from figures, pencilled by several of our eminent business men, as the ground-work of a series of calculations upon the wealthy certain individuals, and interesting only to themselves; but conceiving that a more extended and ar. ished list would be both interesting and useful to their fellow-citizens, they communicated the present individual Publisher of The Sun, by whom it was at once taken up, and a bare list, some seven or eig. timates of G in coarse type, was made out. The first attempt so far exceeded the most sanguine expecta erate; tho originators, that improvements were from time to time suggested and carried out, until it now $30,000,00 quite a respectable sized book, crowded to its utmost limits in the finest type with instructicear, d information of the most curious and interesting character. In order to render this publication more interesting to the general reader, we have procured from various authentic sources, brief genealogical and historical or biographical notices of some of the more remarkable men and families in this community, into whose hands wealth has concentrated, and by the endeavor to do equal and exact justice to the parties, have deemed ourselves rendering an especial service to those, more particularly, who by honest and laborious industry have raised themselves from the obscure and humble walks of life, to great wealth and consideration. Erroneous statements there may be, although neither labor nor pains have been spared for perfection, but a word from the interested parties will ensure the earliest correction. Our aim has been to injure the feelings of none, but to hold up to view some of the brightest examples of prosperity in this touch-stone land as beacons for those ambitious of fortune's favors. This edition has been carefully revised, and many of the biographical notices entirely re-written, so as to remove whatever errors and objectionable remarks had crept into the former editions, and is believed to be more complete and accurate than any former edition.

THE EDITOR.

In partnership with Garrit A. Dunscomb, constituting the firm of John H. Abeel & Co. iron merchants, one of the oldest houses in the city.

Abraham Jacob. - - - - - 100,000
A retired pawnbroker; for many years well known for his active services in aiding the police.

Adams John - - - - - - 300,000
Of Irish descent, who by industry and integrity as a merchant in the dry goods line, has acquired a respectable fortune, which he enjoys with the respect of all who know him. He is President of the Fulton Bank. He married a daughter of John Glover, deceased, some twenty years since, by whom he has received some property. See Mrs. Fisher.

Addison Thomas - - - - - 150 000
A distinguished pencil-case maker; a pioneer in this, and made his money by industry. The present ever-pointed pencil-case was first made by him, and owes its form to his ingenuity.

Adee George Estate of - - - - 150,000
Son of William below, and formerly a partner of the firm of Adee, Timpson & Co.

Adee William - - - - - - 200 000
An auctioneer, and formerly senior partner in the firm of Adee, Timpson & Co. From Westchester Co. Began life as a dry goods merchant, and has now retired from business. A very worthy man who has made all his money by active industry, and the most honorable and upright course in business.

Aldrich Herman L. - - - - - 400,000
Of the firm of McCurdy, Aldrich & Spencer, commission merchants. He commenced the jobbing business some fifteen years since on a small borrowed capital, and was afterwards engaged in the importing business. For the last five years he has been the principal capitalist in the largest domestic commission house in the city. The whole of his fortune has been accumulated by untiring assiduity and attention to legitimate business.

Allen Stephen - - - - - - 400,000
A man who without money, without family connexions, and without friends, has made his way to independence in fortune, and to high public stations. He began life as a poor sailor boy, afterwards was a sail maker, and finally kept one of the largest sail-lofts in the city. In his business he was industrious, scrupulously exact, and rigid in justice. By his reputation for integrity, he procured large access... in business. He was made Mayor of the ... and re-elected for two successive ye... rwards a Senator of the State, and a St... ioner of the Croton Water Works, in w... by his powerful influence did much to... success of this great enterprise. Mr. Allen is ... ergetic and decided man, always adopting a ... of his own, and carrying it out with great self-reliance. At the time of difficulty in the New York Life Insurance and Trust Co., he was made the President.

Alley Saul - - - - - - 250,000
Mr. A. was bound, when a small boy, apprentice to a coach maker. During his apprenticeship his father died, and left him totally dependent on his own exertions. The very clothes he wore he was obliged to earn by toiling extra hours, after the regular time of leaving off work had passed. The foundation of his fortune he acquired by the exercise of frugality and prudence while a journeyman mechanic. Mr. Alley came to this city and undertook a commission business in cotton and domestic goods. His creditors at Charleston having confidence in him were his first patrons, and among them Mordecai Cohen, a rich Jew. In a few years he paid his creditors, and by business tact, integrity, and industry, has amassed his wealth. He retired from business several years since. Mr. Alley is an example of a man of strong mind pushing his way through the world without the benefits of education and under many difficulties.

Ames Barret - - - - - - 100,000

A respectable lawyer, who inherited most of his property from his father, who acquired his fortune in the manufacture of boots and shoes.

Anderson Henry J. - - - - - 100,000
The respected Professor of Mathematics in Columbia College. His father was Elbert Anderson, a cabinet-maker in his day, who, by industry, but more especially by fortunate contracts with the U. S. Government during the last war, became possessed of an independence. Some of the most valuable property on Broadway belonged to him, which, unfortunately for his heirs, was sold during his lifetime for comparatively a mere trifle. He built a splendid residence at Throggs Neck.

Andrew Henry - - - 100,000
Native of England, made his fortune in the Carpet trade, was prominent in the Whig ranks, and sent to the Assembly of this state some years since; a very good citizen. In former days worked at his trade, which was that of an upholsterer.

Anthon Charles - - - - - 100,000
A brother of John, and professor of Latin language and literature in Columbia College. Mr. Anthon has published many works; the one most widely known is Anthon's Classical Dictionary. Mr. Anthon has a popular reputation as a scholar, and is a most learned man.

Anthon John - - - - - - 300,000
The parents of Mr. Anthon were Roman Catholics, and of German origin. The children are Episcopalians, Low Churchmen. The father, Dr. Anthon, was a respectable physician of this city. The sons have distinguished themselves; John as a lawyer, Henry as a divine, and Charles as a scholar. John married a daughter of the wealthy John Hone, by which his children are said to be heirs of a fortune of over $100-000.

Appleton Daniel - - - - - 100 000

Aspinwall Wm. H - - - 400,000
Of the firm of Howland & Aspinwall, shipping merchants. The father of Mr. Aspinwall has long been known as an intelligent and shrewd broker, and is of an ancient and honorable family. Mr. Aspinwall has a beautiful seat on Staten Island, and his residence in this city is very valuable.

Astor John Jacob - - - - - 25,000,000
John Jacob Astor is classed, by those who know him best, not only among the richest but also among the truly great men of the world. The talent which in another age, and in another state of society, was exercised in the art of war, is now to a great extent engaged in the peaceful occupations of the counting-room. War has been a great field for the developement of great talents. But commerce affords scope for a greater variety of talent, and is a field on which the most gigantic genius, and the most soaring ambition may expend themselves in unlimited conquests. In this department of human action Astor has displayed a great mind. Landing on our shores as a common steerage passenger—a poor uneducated boy—a stranger to the language and the people—he has by the sole aid of his own industry, accumulated a fortune scarcely second to that of any individual on the globe, and has executed projects that have become identified with the history of his country, and which will perpetuate his name to the latest age. He was born in July, 1763, in the village of Waldorp, near Heidelberg, in the Duchy of Baden, Germany. His father was a very worthy man and held the office of bailiff. At the age of eighteen young Astor, on the eve of leaving his home for a foreign land, resolved to be honest and industrious, and never to gamble. In March, 1784, he landed in this country a steerage passenger, having sailed from London in November, and been detained by the ice three months. The ship in which he had taken passage was commanded by Capt. Stout, father to the present Pres. of the Eagle Ins. Co. On one occasion young Astor ventured beyond the limits assigned to the steerage passengers, and appeared on the quarter deck: Capt. Stout observing it, came up, and in a very peremptory manner, asked him how he dared to intrude there! ordering him instantly to retire! This poor steerage passenger is now the richest individual in the Western hemisphere, and can look down upon those who then held him in so much contempt. On his voyage he became acquainted with a fellow countryman of his, a furrier, who induced Mr. Astor to learn this art. The main portion of Mr. Astor's property at this time consisted of seven flutes from his brother's manufactory, at London, which, with a few other articles of merchandize, he sold, and invested the small proceeds in furs, and commenced learning the fur-trade. He was soon after engaged as clerk in the fur establishment of Robert Bowne, the first cousin of Walter's father, (see Walter Bowne,) a good old quaker, who prized Mr. Astor very much for his untiring industry and fidelity. Subsequently, by the aid of a few thousands from his brother Harry, a rich Bowery butcher, he engaged in business for himself, associated with the late Cornelius Heyer. Afterwards he became associated with Mr. Smith, the father of Gerrit Smith. At the close of the revolutionary war, Oswego, Niagara, Detroit, and other posts being in possession of a foreign power, a serious embarrassment was thrown in the way of the fur trade. Soon after Mr. Astor entered the business, in 1794–5, by a treaty these posts were surrendered, when, contemplating the grand opportunity then offered to him, he said, "Now I will make my fortune in the fur-trade." His prediction was verified. Astor, with an industry and sagacity unparalleled, improved his opportunity, and after the lapse of six years, during the first year of the present century, he had amassed something like $250,000 dollars. By the natural course of accumulation, this sum, at the present time, would have amounted to $6,000,000 -but in Mr. Astor's hands it has increased to more than four times that amount. Nine years later, at the age of forty five, Mr. Astor founded the American Fur Company, for the purpose of competing with the powerful British associations, which were in a fair way to monopolize the traffic in furs throughout the Northern and South Western portions of our continent. The outposts of this new company stretched into new and hitherto untrodden fields, and secured the richest spoils of beaver, otter, and buffalo. It had indeed previously as well as now been the policy of Mr. Astor to extend his conquests into new territories. The projection and establishment of this company did not satisfy his gigantic intellect. His grand project of the Astoria settlement was now formed. It was his design to establish a series of forts along the Pacific Ocean, and on the Columbia River, in connexion with our government, and thus monopolize the fur trade west of the Rocky Mountains. The first post, Astoria, was established in 1810, by a party of sixty men under the command of Mr. W. P. Hunt. This settlement, which was destined to be the commercial emporium of the Northern Pacific, was to be supplied with commodities from New York, and the same vessel was also to convey supplies to the Russian trading settlements farther north, and receive furs in exchange. With the furs from the Russian posts, and from Astoria, she was to proceed to Canton, then the best market for furs, and return home with teas, silks, and nankeens. In the projection of this magnificent enterprize, Astor anticipated that the settlement would prove a bill of costs for the first two years, and that no considerable profits would be received in less than ten years. At the expiration of twenty years he counted on receiving a million of dollars annual profits. The Tonquin, the first, and the Lark, the third vessel, despatched for Astoria, were lost, yet notwithstanding, the enterprise would not have failed, had not Astoria been sold to the agents of the British North West Fur Company, through the treachery of one of Mr. Astor's partners, a Scotchman named McDougal. Astoria had to struggle through many difficulties in consequence of being captured during the late war, and just as peace was declared, and as it was to be restored, it was wrenched from Mr. Astor's hands by the treachery of his partner. From the time of the establishment of the American Fur Company, Mr. Astor became largely engaged in commerce. His ships freighted with furs for France, England, Germany and Russia—and with peltries, ginseng, and dollars for China, now ploughed every sea, to receive these products of the New World and exchange them for the valuable commodities of the Old. Mr. Astor's instructions to his captains were minute and exceedingly particular. He evinced almost as intimate a knowledge of the various markets in which he traded, as though he had been a resident at each respective mart. In the distribution of his cargoes at home, and in exchanging his commodities with the natives, Mr. Astor exercised a minute inspection even to the smallest details, and seemed to possess an almost intuitive knowledge of the market, not only in the United States, but also in Canada. Yet Mr. Astor did not bestow at his counting-house more than half the time most merchants feel compelled to give their concerns. It has been remarked of him, by one of his intimate friends, a man of some eminence, that Mr. Astor, was capable of commanding an army of 500,000 men. During a good portion of Mr. Astor's active life, he resided in a large house in the lower part of Broadway, and lived in a style of princely magnificence, attended by servants from some of the various nations with which he traded, and among them some from the Empire of the Celestials. His house was furnished with the richest plate, and his apartments adorned with works of art, among which was a Cupid by Mignard, which was regarded as a work of rare merit, and for which Astor paid a princely sum.

Notwithstanding the magnitude and success of Mr. Astor's business operations, yet the greatest source of his wealth has resulted from the increased value of real estate consequent on the continued growth of the city. At an early day he foresaw the future greatness of this commercial emporium of the Western Continent, and was wont to convert two-thirds of his annual gains into real estate, not one foot of which he ever mortgaged. It has been his policy to invest in mortgages on the best property offered, and in case of fore closure, which has often happened, he has bought the property in at much less than its real value. In this mode, together with the continually increasing value of real estate, in this city, he has multiplied his wealth far beyond the natural accumulation by the ordinary interest, and hence too the bulk of his property. Mr. Astor has vast tracts of land in Missouri, Wisconsin, Iowa, and other parts of the West, the prospective value of which is very great. The greater portion of his property is in real estate and mortgages in this city. Could Mr. Astor's property be kept unbroken and under its present management, it would become the largest individual estate ever known on the globe. The estimates of the value of his property given above is moderate; those knowing his affairs best placing it at $30,000,000; and some as high even as $50,000,000. His income on a moderate estimate must be $2,000,000 a year, or $166,000 a month, which is about $41,500 a week; $5,760 a day, $240 an hour, and $4 a minute. Mr. Astor has made a donation of $360,000 for a library in this city, the interest of which is to be expended in employing agents to purchase books, and in the erection of a building. Mr. Cogswell, late editor of the N. Y. Review, is the agent and librarian. Mr. Astor has two sons, Wm. B. and one who has been imbecile from his birth; one of his daughters became the Countess of Rumpff, and lately deceased at Paris, another (deceased) was married to Mr. Bristed, an Englishman, author of a work on the Resources of America, and now a clergyman at Bristol, R. I. A grandson Charles Bristed is at Cambridge, England.

John Jacob Astor beat skins in Gold street in early life.

Astor Wm. B. - - - - - - 5,000,000

The son of John Jacob, and holding a power of attorney for the transaction of all his father's business, and exercising generally a superintendence over that immense property of which he undoubtedly expects to be the principal heir. Yet Wm. B. has received much of his property from his deceased uncle, Henry Astor, long celebrated as a butcher in the Bowery, in which business he accumulated his wealth. The amount received from his uncle did not exceed half a million, yet by fortunate investments, chiefly in real estate, and by donations from his father, who has given him the Astor House, it has increased to this extraordinary amount.

Austen David - - - - - - 100,000

A distinguished auctioneer, who made money " time when auctioneers reaped their $50,000 a year profit. By his marriage with a sister of John Haggerty, he received, no doubt, an accession to his fortune. At the present time auctioneers, like all others, can reap but slow profits, and that by careful industry, and close attention to business. Mr. Austen is an excellent business man, and a most estimable citizen.

Estimable son of the venerable Colonel Barclay, British Consul, deceased.

Barnum Phineas Taylor - - 200,000

The proprietor of the American Museum, and guardian of the celebrated Tom Thumb, was born in Danbury, Ct., where he was at one time engaged as a lottery dealer, and merchant, and afterwards editor and proprietor of an influential newspaper, entitled the Herald of Freedom, which, being free with the failings of orthodox pretenders, and making some rather severe strictures on Judge Daggett, then of the Supreme Court, brought down the ire of that venerable Judge, and Barnum was imprisoned for libel. The day of his liberation was celebrated by a grand gala scene and oration, and the martyr to universalism, was nominated by his friends for Governor. Soon afterwards he came to this city, and soon became known as the exhibitor of Joice Heth. Subsequently obtaining possession of the American Museum, he became the proprietor, and meeting with Tom Thumb, has made his fortune mainly by means of that juvenile wonder. Mr. Barnum is now in Europe, exhibiting Tom Thumb, by whom he is coining money.

Of a Connecticut family, and of the firm of Eggleston & Battelle, iron merchants. Mr. Battelle has made a profitable use of his capital.

Beach M. Y. - - - - - - 300,000

Moses Y. Beach was born in Wallingford, Conn., his grandfather and father being the first settlers and largest landholders in that section. He is a connection on his mother's side of Elihu Yale, Esq., founder of Yale College, and for many years Governor of the East India Co. At an early age he was apprenticed to the Cabinet making business, in Hartford, Conn., where, by over work, and working nights, managed to save, by the time he had attained his eighteenth year, $400, with which he purchased of his employer the remainder of his time, and commenced business on his own account in Massachusetts Soon after he married, and has since then, passed through the rough and varied scenes of a business life. After the commencement of the Sun newspaper, he purchased Mr. Wisner's interest, being one-half, paying for the experiment $5200 As soon as he found this to be a safe and permanent business, he bought out his partner, for which he paid $19,000. From this point, his star, or rather Sun, has been steadily in the ascendant, and now we find him the publisher of the most extensively circulated newspaper upon the globe, and the principal stockholder in four Banks, all in good standing, and prosperous, besides doing under his own name a large amount of banking. For assistance in his unparalelled business, he has the services of five sons, brought up in active life under his own eye, and who may yet prove "chips of the old block."

Beekman Henry - - - - - 200,000

Descendant of Gov. W. Beekman, about 220 years since Dutch Governor of South Fort, on the Delaware. If any of the Dutch noblesse of the very earliest colonizations at New Amsterdam (now New York) remain, here is one who, like all the intermediate links from the Governor down, have nobly upheld the renown and rank of their ancestors. The Beekmans, however, have never been numerous. Two others of the family follow. Governor Beekman was one of those stalwart men, who, as early as 1653, demanded of the Holland government a liberal charter for this city, and it was given.

The present proprietor of the Grand street and East Broadway lines of stages, in which much of his funds are invested.

Betts Samuel R. - - - - - 100,000

Judge of the United States Court for the Southern District of New York. A sterling man. The father of Judge B. was a wealthy farmer of Berkshire County, Mass., who readily yielded to the desire of his son for a professional life, and we see the latter, at an early age, graduating at Williams' College, Massachusetts, subsequently studying law at Hudson, Columbia County, in this State, and afterwards commencing practice in Sullivan County, N. Y. He was elected Democratic Member of the 14th Congress from that county, whence he removed to Orange County, and filled various offices of honor and trust. In 1823 he was appointed by Gov. Yates Circuit Judge of the Second Circuit, as one of the eight Judges under the new Constitution; and in 1827 designated by President Adams to the distinguished situation he now fills with so much industry and ability.

Judge B. married Miss Dewey, of Williamstown, daughter of Judge Dewey, (for a long time Judge of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts, which position her brother, Hon. C. A. Dewey, now occupies).

They reside in one of the splendid mansions at St. Mark's Place, in a style (though unostentatious) in keeping with their position in life. They have had five children, four of whom are still living.

The Rev. Everardus Bogardus was a great name in the time of our Dutch ancestors. Whether a descendant from Gen. Robert B., an eminent counsellor, we know not—but his native shrewdness and perseverance needed no ancestral dignities for his advancement. "Gas stock," 'tis said, consummated his fortune.

Bogart Eugene - - - - - 150 000

Descended from a Huguenot. Anterior to the American Revolution, Cornelius was a large landowner and merchant, leaving his business to his two sons, Henry C. and Nicholas C., who were among the largest merchants of their day; their business with London being very extensive. N. C. married a daughter of Myndert Schuyler, an eminent merchant of this city, and during the Revolutionary war moved to Tappan, Rockland Co. Andre was confined in his house, and Washington and other officers often visited him. He left two sons, Cornelius N. and David S. The former died a bachelor, and the latter was graduated at Columbia College in 1790, and settled as a Clergyman at Southampton, L. I., from 1798 to 1813, and then at Hempstead until 1826, when he came to this city, and died in 1839. One of his sons, Alwyn, is a physician in this city, and a daughter, Elizabeth, is distinguished as an authoress. The wife of David S. was a daughter of Jona. Pratt. Her brother Ebenezer, was taken a prisoner during the Revolutionary war, and carried to London, where he married a sister of Sir Benjamin West's wife, the daughter of Mrs. Wright, celebrated for her skill in wax modelling. Another brother, Col. Richard, was the officer who received the gallant Montgomery in his arms while expiring, at the siege of Quebec, Dec. 31, 1775. Eugene is the son of David S., and early entered into mercantile pursuits, in which he has attained his wealth, by the most honorable course of dealing. He married a daughter of David Beck, Esq., of this city. He has retired from business, leaving the brothers, Alex. A. and Orlando M., to succeed him in the firm of Bogart & Brothers, Commission Merchants.

Bowne Walter Estate of - - - 600,000

Of an ancient and very numerous Quaker family of L. I. John, who was born at Matlock, in Derbyshire, England, in 1627, with his father, Thomas, and a sister, came to Boston in 1649, and in 1651 they settled in Flushing. John married a daughter of Robert Field, of Flushing, a sister of the wife of Capt. John Underhill, and in 1661 built the house there, which, has been occupied by his descendants until recently, when it passed into the possession of James Parsonse whose mother was the daughter John Bowne, the fourth, a lineal descendant of the first John, and is now occupied by Mr. Parsons. In this house, George Fox, in 1672, was entertained by Mr. Bowne, and his wife, who early became quakers. In 1662 Bowne was imprisoned for three months, and then sent to Hollann for trial, by the notorious Governor Stuyvesant, on the charge of "procuring lodgings, for and frequenting the Conventicles of the obstinate sect of Quakers. He was acquitted in Holland, and a severe reprimand administered to the Governor. Walter is the son of James, whose father, Samuel, was the grandson of John. Walter was elected Mayor of this city in 1828, which office he held for five successive years. Subsequently he was a State Senator, and was one of the U. S. commissioners for the erection of the Custom House. Mr. Bowne was, in early life, "an out-door under writer," and has been a merchant, in which line he has amassed much wealth in addition to his inheritance. His investments in real estate in this city have added much to his fortune. Mr. Bowne is universally respected for his integrity and virtues, and has ever been an influential man. Mary Franklin, the first wife of De Witt Clinton, was a descendant of the Bownes. Walter married Elizabeth Southgate, by whom he has two children; Walter, jr., who married Eliza Rapelye, and Mary, the wife of John W. Lawrence, of Flushing.

Began life as a poor boy, making packing boxes for merchants, and laboring until ten or eleven o'clock every night. Accumulated some money, and commenced as a carpenter and builder, in which, by means of his untiring industry, integrity, and talent, he amassed means and reputation sufficient to enable him to make large contracts, in 1836, for rebuilding in the "burnt district." At the time of taking his contracts, wages and materials were high, but long before the completion of his work, the price of labor and materials had depreciated to such an extent, that he realised an immense profit. He has continued building, and has invested his proceeds in real estate, the value of which has greatly risen since his purchase. He has a beautiful seat at Fort Washington, in the upper part of the island, where he resides in the summer. He is now building a village two miles this side of Fort Washington, named Carmanville. In 1842 Alderman Carman was elected by the whigs of the twelfth ward, and held his seat for one year. Mr. Carman is one of those strong-minded men for whom nature has done more than education, and is, moreover, a very liberal and excellent man. No man is more respected.

Carnes Francis - - - 200,000

A gentleman, every inch of him—and but few such specimens of a highly educated merchant. Resided a long while in Paris, where he was held in great consideration both among his countrymen and the elite of French society, for his fine taste, classical acquirements, polished manners, and ready wit. He is yankee born, of great respectability, and after many ups and downs of life, and locating himself with his accomplished second wife at New York, his two beautiful daughters just grown, and wife, have come into the above inheritance, through the death of a maternal great uncle.

This gentleman is a son of the late Gen. Clarkson of this city, and brother to the long broker of that name.

Mr. Clarkson erected, mostly at his own cost, St. Paul's (Episcopal) Church, at Flatbush, where the eloquent and Rev. Mr. Newman now officiates as Rector. Mr. C. has a charming residence at the same place, situated on one of the most beautiful lawns in this State: its adornments are attributed to the refined taste of his accomplished lady.

Crosby John P. - - - - - - 100,000

Mr. C. married a daughter of Hon. Benjamin F. Butler. His first wife was a Murray, by whom, we believe, he received an accession to his estate.

Clapp John - - - - - - 100,000

A Friend. His wealth is the result of his own exertions, coupled with remarkable prudence in husbanding the fruits of his earnings. He was formerly in the flour trade, but has been retired many years, and is at present the President of the Mechanics' & Traders' Bank.

Clark Aaron - - - - - - 100,000

This gentleman commenced the world for himself when yet quite a lad, without a cent in his pocket. After passing through many vicissitudes, he succeeded at length by election, to the post of Clerk of Assembly, which he held for many years. Mr. McIntyre (afterwards the celebrated owner of N. Y. State Lottery in conjunction with Yates,) was at that time Comptroller. When Mr. Clark was defeated in a new election through the efforts of the Tammany party in this city, headed by a prominent member of the Assembly, his friend McIntyre, invited him to come to New York and open an office of Fortune, which he did, and speedily became her favorite—disposing in the most astonishing manner of prize after prize in rapid succession. On the abolition of lotteries in '36, Mr. C., with other honorable dealers, retired from the business, having accumulated a handsome fortune. He was soon after nominated for the Mayoralty of the metropolis, which he obtained and filled with distinguished ability. He has now retired from active life, with the exception of such attention to monied interests as are involved in the investment of capital. He has a large circle of valued friends, and no one is more deserving of them.

Clark Bayard - - - - - 100,000

This gentleman was of the ancient Cornell family, (originally Cornhill or Cornwall) of Cornwall Hall, Combury, L. Island. Their progenitor escaped from the horrid massacre at Throg's Neck, 1643, in which the immortal Anne Hutchinson, the head of the colony, and most of the others perished. He was distinguished for his philanthropy: foremost among all the noble charities of the day: prominent among the trustees of the Public Schools, House of Refuge and other kindred institutions: a man of sterling integrity—such an one as the community look up to: the influential man. For forty years previous to his death, he had kept a list of failures which had taken place in this city. Just previous to his death he was elected to the Presidency of the Bible Society, but, as we are informed, he never received the news of his nomination.

Coster John G. (estate of) - - 600,000

Two brothers, John G. and Henry A., the former lately deceased, and the latter twenty years ago, are of a respectable family in Amsterdam, and began here as merchants soon after the revolution, and by honest industry amassed a great fortune. While Napoleon held Holland, they, through confidential correspondence were enabled to know how far to push the trade thither, and thus in return importations of gin found so rich a harvest, that their wealth rapidly accumulated from that hour. They were gentlemen born and of irreproachable integrity. The millions the two brothers amassed is nearly all melted away before it has barely got into the hands of their children.

Henry A. Coster left about $3,000,000, yet but little of it is left. John G. met with heavy losses through the instrumentality of his children who were unsuccessful in business. John H., a son, and Mr. Berryman, a son-in-law, went into business as importers, and lost a large sum. Berryman and his wife are dead.

Fish Preserved recently dec'd, - 100,0(

Baptised, 'tis said, by some sailors, who found him floating on a raft at sea before he was old enough to know who his parents were or where he lived. Inheritance certainly had nothing to do with his fortune.

Commenced life as an apprentice to a blacksmith, and his next situation was that of a seaman on board of a whaling ship. From being a man before the mast, he rose to the situation of mate, and finally commander, in which hazardous pursuit he amassed the foundation of his fortune. He became afterwards an extensive Shipping Merchant, of the old firm of Fish & Grinnell, the origin of the present firm, Grinnell, Minturn & Co. Harper & Brothers - - - - 500,000

This firm consists of four brothers, James, (formerly Mayor of this city, John, Joseph W. and Fletcher. They are of a respectable family on Long Island, and coming to this city, learned the Printer's trade. Jas. and John, under the firm of J. & J. Harper, after their time was out, commenced doing job work, and printing for Publishers. The distinguished house of Collins, Keese & Co., (now Collins, Brothers,) large publishers of school books, gave them employment. Getting out of work, they applied to the Collins for advice as to what book they should print. The Collinsgave them advice, and they printed a work which was successful, followed up by another fortunate book, until at length they became publishers, and finally their two other brothers being added, they enlarged their business under the firm of Harper & Brothers. They are now the most extensive publishers in this country, and their names, in the history of literature, will be associated with those of Galliane, Constable, Murray, and Longman. They have in different parts of America, from twelve to fifteen hundred booksellers acting as their agents, besides a large number of travelling clergymen, and other itinerants. So extensive is their business connexion that should they dispose of but one or two copies to each agency, they would be sure to pay the expenses of publication, and no matter what work they may publish, they are sure to dispose of, on an average more than two copies to each house with which they deal. They have a correspondence established not only with every considerable place in this country, but with cities abroad, where books are published, informing them of every work worthy of publication. They have besides in this city, and other parts of the U. States, many literary men in the employment, to pronounce their opinion of manuscripts submitted for publication, to revise those that are imperfect, and to write notices and puffs for the more important newspapers and magazines which they have either directly or indirectly subsidized to their interest.

Hatch Geo. W. - - - - - - 100,000

Rawdon, Wright & Hatch are the celebrated bank engravers, and another sample of intelligent, spirited mechanics, making for themselves a name and a fortune incomparably more to be prized than the wealth which has been acquired too often by mere mercantile gambling. There is substance, and truth, and reality —something tangible, and definite, and susceptible of ocular demonstration and utility in the fruits of mechanics labors: but what visible means of livelihood, and what direct and practical utility do we see in many other professions, to wit: swindling stock operations, but which are yet deemed more reputable than the walks of mechanic life. The time is gone by, however, when dreaming speculators and fancy operators can any longer sneer superciliously at the "brawny arms" and "russet palms" of the honest laborer. Thus much has been done by breaking up a false system of credit, and by consequence, breaking up the nests of lounging, idle upstarts, that like mushrooms on a dung-hill, spring up out of corrupt masses of rag-paper and spurious capital. May Rawdon and Hatch never lend their burin and mezzotinto to any paper that does not command yellow mint drops instanter at the counter on the very face of it. Mr. Hatch is half brother of Ex-Governor Throop, and to judge of his early prosperous career, cannot be said to have counted his chickens before they were hatched. Mr. Rawdon is a branch of the Irish family of Rawdon, Earl of Moira, who was so distinguished as a British partizan or cavalry officer during the revolutionary war.

Judah Rebecca - - - - - - 100,000

Judah Bell - - - - - - 100,000

K.

Kane Oliver - - - - - - $100,000
For many years a distinguished family in New York that has seen much prosperity as well as the dark side of life's picture. But few retain the wealth they once had; most, however, are well intermarried with respectable families, being themselves a race decidedly of strong prominent traits of intellect.

Kearney J. D. Jr. (estate of J. Watts,) 300,000
Young grandson of Jno. Watts, deceased, and who was the source of his wealth. The Watts family are cotemporary with the most distinguished names of our English gentry, John Watts being grandson of Robert and Mary Watts. John Watt's sister was mother of the present Mr. Kennedy, Earl of Cassills.

Keese John D. - - - - 100,000
Of the old established firm of Lawrence & Keese, who have during the last 50 years sold drugs enough to supply half the human race. Mr. K. is a son of Major Keese, deceased, of the continental line of the revolution, afterwards a distinguished lawyer in this city.

Keese Mary M. (Widow,) - - 100,000
Daughter of James Drake, deceased.

Kellogg Edward - - - - - 100,000
Born in Litchfield Co., Ct., and began life a footpedlar, carrying trunks filled with tin-pepper boxes and other Yankee notions. Being a man of genius, it was not long before he became a dry-good jobber in Pearl street, making $20,000 per annum nett profit. In 1837, at a time when by a legitimate business he had become worth half a million or more, he failed in consequence of heavy losses ($200,000 almost in a lump) by his southern customers, and by an unfortunate speculation in Elizabethport lots. He has, however, paid all his creditors, leaving a snug fortune for himself. He is the projector and mover of the Elizabethport speculation, owning a large part of the village. These were first laid out and bought by a company of stockholders who intended to build up a manufacturing village to rival Newark. Most of the stockholders failing to pay their instalments, Kellogg took their shares and became the chief shareholder. These lots cost him from $300 to $400 an acre. In addition to his estate in Elizabethport, Mr. Kellogg is an owner in the two steamboats plying between that place and this city, and has real estate here and in Brooklyn where he resides. He is now again engaged in the dry good jobbing business in Pearl st. Mr. Kellogg is no ordinary man, having in addition to his attention to a large business, acquired an education superior to many, who in early life have received what is falsely styled "a liberal education."

Kellogg Henry P. - - - 200,000

Kelly Eli - - - - - 100,000

Kelly William - - - - - 150,000

Kelly Robert - - - - - 150,000

Kennedy David S: - - - - 350,000
A highly respectable Scotch merchant, who obtained some addition to his fortune through his wife, the daughter of Robert Lenox.

Kent James - - - - - 200,000
One of the most marked men of the times, the profound jurist, and long the celebrated Chancellor of this State, whose opinions and commentaries, nay, mere words, are like pure gold, and law for all those who wish to know what law is. What a gratifying picture of a well spent life is that of this universally beloved man in a green old age, enjoying the respect of friends, the delights of domestic society, and all the glorious vigor and sparkling brightness of that mannood which once adorned and could still adorn if not purify the bench.

Kermit Robert - - - - - 200,000
Of a very old and most respectable Scotch family.

Kernochan Joseph - - - - 500,000
Of a poor Irish family, who were employed as Colliers teamsters &c., at some of the large iron works in the Highland Mountains, on the west side of the Hudson. Made his money in the southern trade as partner in the house of Parish & Co.

Kerrigan James - - - 150,000

Ketchum Morris - - - - 200,000
A brother of Hiram, the lawyer, and now resides in Westport, Ct., cultivating one of the best farms in that State. He has been, and was an owner of the Iron Works, at Elizabethport, N. Y.

Kettletas Eugene - - - - 300,000
A descendant of the Rev. Abraham Kettletas, whose father came from Holland in 1723, and was a merchant in this city. Rev. Mr. Kettletas, was distinguished as a clergyman, on Long Island, during the revolutionary war, and was a member of the Convention which formed the state constitution in 1777. Eugene was educated a Lawyer, and married the sister of Mrs. Thos. McCarty, daughter of John Gardiner, deceased, whence he receives a good portion of his estate. Hackett, the comedian, is a son of Ann, daughter of the Rev. Abraham Kettletas.

Kingsland Daniel C. - - - - - 300,000

Kingsland, Ambrose C. - - - - 300,000

Firm D. & A. Kingsland & Co.—in the sperm oil and shipping business.

Kingsland R. - - - - - - - 200,000

One of the oldest and richest firms in the hardware line, and a man of great respectability and high standing in this community; a modest gentleman that has calmly pursued "the even tenor of his way" without show or parade, and thus silently passed down the stream of time, every where beloved and honored. Such families how unlike are they to the fluttering, buzzing things of fashion, whose gilded wings collapse with the first shower that dims their sunshine, and "then are heard no more."

Kissam Richard (Estate of) - - 150,000

An estate honestly, nobly acquired in the surgical profession of which he stood undoubtedly at the head in his day. But few keener men in wit or with the knife could be found any where. His forte was lithotomy, in which his cures were truly wonderful. In after life he married and soon after died, leaving a large family of small children, to whom we believe his property was by will bequeathed.

Knapp Shepard - - - - - - 300,000

From New England and self made. He was formerly in the leather business with Jacob Lorrillard and thus acquired his property. In his dealing he was just, and is highly esteemed as a citizen. He is President of the Mechanics Bank.

Kneeland Charles - - - - 100,000

From the Eastward and a self made man.

Knox A. - - - - - - - - 100,000

L

Lafarge John - - - - - - 700.000

A Frenchman, and held in high esteem, of whom the following story is told, though india-rubberized sufficiently to be called a fabrication.

Mr. L. is said to have been agent for Joseph Bonaparte during his residence in this country. Bonaparte had lands in Pennsylvania which he offered at $1 an acre. Lafarge told him if he would survey and divide it, he could get for some lots $20 an acre, and for the others prices ranging from this sum to $1. Bonaparte said, "You may buy it at $1 an acre and dispose of it as you please." "I have no money," replied Lafarge. "I will lend it to you," said Buonaparte. Lafarge bought the land and laid the foundation of his fortune. He afterwards invested in real estate in this city and by the rise in value has greatly increased his wealth. He is the owner of the large building at the corner of Reade and Broadway, and is elsewhere building to a great extent.

Laing Hugh - - - - - - 150,000

Has been a Coal dealer. Is now retired, giving his business to his son, of the firm of Laing & Randolph, the largest importers, and the largest dealers in the city; Mr. Randolph, senior, having retired likewise in favor of his son.

Langdon Walter - - - - 250,000

Originally from New Hampshire, and a man of great literary acquirements. He married a daughter of John Jacob Astor.

Lasala John B. - - - - - 100,000

Loubat Alphonse - - - - - 200,000

Laurie George - - - - - 100,000

George and John L. for 30 years merchants, and bachelors, (originally from Scotland) and of the very first character and prime brand as to respectability. The universal consideration they enjoy in this community must be a comfort to them when they look back upon the bright and honorable career they have passed through, though neither, we hope, is yet too far advanced into the yellow leaf to forswear and become a Benedict, as they both know they could easily do, having only to say the word in these hard times.

Laverty Henry - - - - - 150,000

Has been a Dry Goods jobber in Pearl street, in which business he has made his fortune, and from which he has now retired. His parlor is hung with very excellent paintings, the production of his accomplished daughter.

Lawrence Alexander M. - - - 100,000

Of the old New York family of Lawrence. Made his money in the shipping and importing business—now retired.

Lawrence Abraham - - - - 300 000

Inherited his fortune, and with Cornelius W. and most of the others of the name of Lawrence in this city, from three brothers from England, John, William and Thomas.

Lawrence Cornelius W. - - 100 000

At present Collector for the Port of New York. Of a highly respectable Quaker family on Long Island. He, with his brothers, Joseph and Richard M., made their fortunes in the old distinguished Auctioneer firm of Hicks, Lawrence & Co. This firm failed in 1837, but C. W. and J. backed out before the ship sunk—and Richard was wrecked. Richard's wife, daughter of Jacob Drake, has a snug fortune of $80,000. C. W. first married a rich sister of David M. Prall, and afterwards a daughter of his partner, Mr. Hicks, who is now poor, living with his son-in-law, Dr. Cheeseman. C. W. has been Mayor of the city. He has been a large speculator in Cotton, and has lost immense sums.

He was a farmer's boy, and worked many a long day in rain and sunshine on Long Island. There were few lads within twenty miles of him that could mow a wider swarth or turn a neater furrow. He is now the President of the Bank of the State of New York.

Lawrence D. L. - - - - - 200.000

Lawrence Henry H. - - - - 100 000

Of a Long Island Quaker family, and with his brother Richard in the Dry Goods Jobbing business in Pearl street. Men of great worth.

Lawrence John B. (estate of) - - 200,000

A model-man of the old school gentlemen merchants. Of a very ancient house, of an old New York family, and though inheriting a large estate from his father, he pursued business with the ardor of youth, and doubled and trebled his property in the drug line, as the head of that celebrated firm, Lawrence, Keese & Co. But few such as he and the late Gen. Matthew Clarkson, and men of that high stamp and tone are now left. The halls of our public charities tell of their benevolent deeds and the hours they have stolen from busy life to devote to their duties to the poor and suffering, to relieve the widow and the orphan, and to wipe the tear of sorrow from misery's pallid cheek.

Lawrence Joseph - - - - - 150.000

A brother of Cornelius W., and once a partner; now of the firm of Lawrence, Trimble & Co., a large commission house. He married an heiress, daughter of Ald. Thomas S. Townsend.

Levy Captain U. P. - - - - 250,000
A Post Captain in the U. S. Navy, served with distinguished honor in the last war, and was on board the celebrated U. S. brig Argus. He fell into the hands of the enemy and was imprisoned two years in England. He was the first Captain to abolish flogging in the Navy, and introduce salutary moral punishment. His popularity with the sailors is greater than that of any other commander. He is a Philadelphian by birth. He left home at the age of nine years, became a cabin boy, and rose rapidly to his present position, although comparatively a young man. The bronze statue of Jefferson that adorns the President's Mansion at Washington was presented to Congress by Captain Levy. He is also the present proprietor of Jefferson's Mansion in Virginia, and a large holder of real estate in New York city, his place of residence. He was in the destructive gale of 1822 in Carolina, when 1600 souls perished, and was the only man who braved the storm and swam out and rescued numbers of the perishing, for which heroicact the population voted him a civic wreath. He is a bachelor, but an affectionate son and a faithful brother, though he ought to be sent to sea again if he does not contemplate an immediate change in his estate.

Lewis Morgan (estate of) - - 700 000
Formerly Gov. of the State,, Major General of the Army, &c. Acquired his estate by marrying a Livingston of wealth. Gen. Lewis is of an ancient Welsh family.

The brother of Jacob. A widower.

Livingston Maturine - - - - 100,000
Though of the family of Livingston, which for a family so prolific and numerous as theirs, has been one of the most wealthy in the State, but little in he subdivision of multiplying generations fell to the share of Maturine, who marrying his cousin, daughter of General Morgan Lewis, above, has however acquired large opulence in perspective. The Livingstons began in this State about 150 years since in the person of a Scotch clergyman, who on a famous old white horse made his itinerations through the valley of the Mohawk tell with effect. From him sprang an intelligent, enterprising race, who in the next generation secured large landed estates, since manorial by their extent on both sides the Hudson River. Martin Van Buren commenced his career as a village lawyer at Kinderhook by undertaking to invalidate the Livingston titles, but their numbers and wealth were too much for him. Their names loom largely on our records; and after the Rensselaers and the Dutch and English noblesse, they rank among the most distinguished families in the State

Ludlow Estate - - - - - - 300,000

Luff John, Estate of - - - 200,000
A most capital man was this respectable German and in the excellent quality of his bread and muffin Jonas Humbert himself, aided by his electrical machine, was no circumstance to him. Old Mr. Luff had a pleasant word for every one as he rattled around from door to door in his long light baker's cart, which it seems to us is now become of the things that once were, and are found no more among our modern landaus and Berlins. With a becoming pride his children revert back with pleasure to the honest means by which their revered parent made by his own hands, so large an estate.

Ludlow Thos. W. - - - - - 200,000
By profession a lawyer, but receiving a large inheritance from his father, Thomas, he retired. The grandfather was a baker, and father was a marshal under the British rule, and a tory. A large present of wine was sent to Gen. Washington, which was confiscated, and came into the hands of Thomas W. The first of this wine was sold in 1828, and is now very valuable, if it can be found. The auctioneer is a cousin of the present Thos. W.

Maybee —— - - - - - - - 150,000

Mayer John - - - - - - 100,000
It is rather as one of the firm of Thos. John & Jos. Mayer, manufacturers of Earthen Ware, Staffordshire, England, than as an individual, that the subject of this notice may be set down, as a man of wealth. Mr. Mayer is a high-minded, honorable man, and blessed with no ordinary share of prudence. As a man of business, he is prompt, and systematic, confining himself exclusively to his own affairs. Mr. M. inherited a good fortune from his father, who, from being a journeyman Tanner and Currier, at Newcastle upon Tyne, Eng., by years of prudence, economy and industry, rose to great wealth, and was successfully chosen to fill the highest civic offices in his native town. Few men more richly merited success, and none are more happy in all the relations of social life, than Mr. M., senior.

Morris Gouverneur - - - - - 700,000
His father, the venerable and famous Gouverneur M., late in life married a Randolph, of Virginia, and left this, the only inheritor, rich. The Morris family of New York and New Jersey began on a large figure, and so continued to prosper for 160 years. Col. Lewis Morris, a celebrated English quaker merchant of Barbadoes, and friend of Wm. Penn, came here to New York with his own ships and goods, and with his brother Richard M., made immediate purchases of large tracts on Long Island, at Harlem river, at Shrewsbury, N. J. &c., (hence Morristown and Morrissiana estate, the last the estate of the youngster above,) &c. And from this truly illustrious stock came all the Morrises hereabout and in New Jersey; and in their hands the patrimonial estates still rest, together with the household jewelry and plate for many generations back, which few families can say. The grandfather of the present Gouverneur (whose name was also Gouverneur,) inserted in his will that his son should not be educated in Ct., for the reasons that these yankees were too cute at bargains with their Dutch neighbors.

I., 1655 Henry, the father of Valentine, was a Physician, and married the daughter of Samuel Way, at North Hempstead. At an advanced age he moved to this city, where he died in 1840. His only surviving son, Dr. Valentine, was born at Glen Cove, L. I., Aug 20, 1785. He was a student in the office of his relative, Dr. Valentine Seaman, and attended the medical lectures at Columbia College in 1804. In the spring of 1807 he went to London, and became a pupil of Sir Astley Cooper, and for two years attending the hospitals, and the lectures of the elder Cline, Abernethy, C. Bell, Astley Cooper, Haighton Currie, and other distinguished teachers. He next visited Edinburgh, and heard the lectures of Gregory, Hooper and Playfair, and after having re-visited the lectures and hospitals of London, returned to New York, where he arrived in the fall of 1808, and met with great success in his profession. The next year he was made Prof. of surgery in Columbia College, and afterwards held the same position in the College of Physicians and Surgeons. He soon afterwards gave up his commission, and devoted his time exclusively to his practice. In 1818 he performed the operation of tying the arterior innominata within two inches of the heart. This was an original operation—an exploit sufficient to make his name immortal. Sir Astley Cooper has said of him, that he has performed more great operations than any other man that ever lived. He was induced again to accept his professorship in the college, but in 1840 his health failing, he returned to Europe, travelling in England, France, and Egypt. The result of the observations, he has given in a book entitled "Travels in Europe and the East." During his absence, the Medical School of the N. Y. University was organized, and the professorship of surgery tendered to him, which he accepted on his arrival in 1840. The success of the school is unparalelled, and is, in a great measure, owing to the influence and reputation of Dr. Mott. He has accumulated his fortune by his extensive and very lucrative practice. The family of Motts became Quakers in the time of George Fox.

Parish Daniel - - - - - - 600,000

Parish Henry (His brother) - 800,000

This family sprang from an honorable root, a surgeon of the British Navy, who about two centuries ago located in this province. A romantic incident connects with Dr. Parish:—In one of the earliest commercial adventures from a neighboring village to the south, and in which a venerable lady, the proprietor of the vessel and cargo of cider and apples went passenger, accompanied by a beautiful daughter, Dr. Parish was invited to act as navigator. At the Ocracoke inlet they saw the head of a celebrated pirate nailed to the bowsprit of a vessel of war; and, on their return, were overtaken by a storm which, but for the doctor's seamanship, would have consigned them all to the deep. For this he received the hand of the fair young damsel on board, and thus became a denizen of this province. But from that day to this, the generations have never been blessed with worldly prosperity until in the persons of Henry and his brothers.

Is a liberal patron of the artist, and in every respect generous and patriotic. Such men are valuable members of society.

Phelps Anson G. - - - 500,000

He was of Connecticut, and learned the tinner's trade. He went to the South, selling the workmanship of his own hands, and hauled in the tin as fast as he shoved it off. Subsequently he became a merchant in the tin, iron, and copper line in this city, and afterwards a partner with Mr. Peck, constituting the firm of Phelps and Peck, whose store fell in 1832, by which eight persons were killed. Mr. Phelps has taken into the firm, Messrs. James, Dodge and Stokes, sons-in-law, the two former once his clerks; Mr. Peck having now retired; these three together with his own son, is now associated with him under the firm of Phelps, Dodge & Co. In 1843, Fitch Smith commenced laying out a village for factories, in his native town, Derby, Ct. The village has grown to a little city, and is called Birmingham. Phelps, Dodge & Co., here erected the most extensive copper works in the U. S., and they contract with the government to supply it with nearly or quite all the copper used for the national vessels. In addition to this, Mr. Phelps has individually bought of Mr. Smith a large share of the water privileges of this place, which are very valuable. Mr. Phelps is a large owner of the iron mines of Pennsylvania, and owns also a part of the Missouri mountain, a valuable mountain of Iron Ore. He owns altogether, perhaps half a million of acres. The firm of which he is a partner, is doing the most extensive business in that line of any house in America. In 1837 this house suspended payment for a short period, at a time when they were worth a million and a half. Mr. Phelps is now President of the Colonization Society and since his providential escape when his store fell, has been distinguished for his deeds of charity.

Porter D. C. - - - - - 100,000

Post Allison - - - - - 350,000

The Progenitor of the Posts was an humble mechanic, among the early English settlers of Suffolk co. L. I., and thence the family soon after located at Hempstead Queens co. Joel and Jotham Post (both deceased), brothers of Allison, were, together with the late distinguished Dr. Wright Post, (another brother) sons of a highly respectable butcher. Wright's early lessons in the shambles gave him probably, his strong taste for and afterwards, eminence in, anatomy. Joel and Jotham, about 30 years since, carried on a great business in the drug line; and a few years after built a magnificent store and warehouse, &c; and then launched larger than ever into the vending of apothecary stuffs and together with Waldron B., (son of one of the parties) accumulated a very large estate, on which their families are now luxuriating.

Ridgway John - - - 150,000
As this gentleman has a branch of his establishment in this city, although not a resident, it is proper to give him a place. Mr. Ridgway is a China and Earthen Ware Manufacturer, at Camerdom, Staffs., England. He succeeded, in company with his brother, to the business of his father, who, from small beginnings rose to great opulence. Few men in their sphere, are more worthy than Mr. R. to be ranked among the benefactors of their race. Just, benevolent and liberal, he has not only succeeded in elevating the character of the several hundred workmen he employs, but has rapidly increased his fortune, without oppressing the laborer.

Rhinelander William - - - 500,000
One of our most wealthy and influential citizens His father was much beloved and respected for his many acts of charity, being the former proprietor of the "Old Sugar Refinery," where he accumulated the large fortune which his son now enjoys.

The General, has been a fixture at the City Hotel coteries of old bachelors for half a century gone, and with his brother, are sons of a respectable sea-captain, dec'd, of old Dutch Knickerbocker extraction. Nicholas and Francis are iron merchants. Nicholas has survived several generations of the old boys of the olden time, and is still as bright as a morning lark. Who has not heard him recount his exploits in Russia, his intimacy with the Emperor Nicholas, his namesake, and above all, listened to his enchanting warbling of "Sweet Lullaby!"

Saltus Francis - - - - - - 200,000

Salles L. (Estate of) - - - - 1,200,000
La Salles, when a young man in his native country, France, having no means of procuring a subsistence, took it into his head to go on board of the first vessel that sailed, no matter to what port bound. In this resolution he was joined by a companion They embarked accordingly, and the vessel happened to be for America. They landed at New York. His companion proceeded to Troy, where he just made out to get along, and where he finally died, but little better off than when he came. Not so with La Salles From small beginnings he gradually accumulated, until at length he loaned money, discounted paper, &c., on a large scale, being a well known and successful broker in Wall st. He is said to have been always fortunate, never losing any thing. He was afflicted all his life long with a tape worm, which gave him such an enormous appetite, that he was compelled to eat many times a day,- a shoulder of mutton making a moderate meal for him. He died, and has left over $1,200,000.

A carpenter of a New Jersey family. He was very industrious, a good workman, and has made all his money by hard toil and shrewd management. He built the old state prison in this city, and was a large contractor for building. One of his sons is the distinguished traveller Stephens.

Stephens John L. - - - - - 100,000

The distinguished Traveller, and the son of Benjamin, above. He has made nearly or quite this sum by his books, in addition to what he may have received, and expects from his father.

Stevens Alex. H. - - - - - 150,000

A surgeon of some repute, and son of General Ebenezer S. The Doctor's three successive marriages to rich heiresses has, we imagine, put more money in his purse than amputating limbs or tying up arteries.

Stevens Horatio G. - - - - - 150,000

Brother of "Alderman Sam," William, John, &c. Their father, Maj. Gen. Ebenezer Stevens, was a meritorious and gallant officer of the old continental line of the army of the revolution, and as Major commanded the artillery with deadly effect in several bloody encounters. How honorable to Major Stevens to rise to that point from out of the ranks where it is said he enlisted as a private soldier, leaving his tools as a journeyman carpenter to take up the sword and battle axe for liberty. His sons have many of them inherited much of his inborn energy and power of mind. The Stevenses so celebrated in engineering, and sons of Col. Stevens, of Hoboken, are a totally different family.

Stevens John H. - - - - 100.000

Stevens Robt. L. - - - - - 350,000

Stevens John C. - - - - - 300.000

Robert L. and John C. are sons of Col. Stevens, deceased, of Hoboken. The eminent ability of Robert, as one who alone has inherited the mantle of his friend Fulton, is two well known to need remark.

Stevenson John R. - - - - 100,000

An old Physician.

Stewart Alexander T. - - - - 500.000

The celebrated Dry Goods Merchant of Broadway whose shop is the grand resort of the fashionables, has lately erected a "palace" on the site of Washington Hall, at a cost of some $100,000 or so. He married a Miss Clinch, a lady of some property.

Stewart Robert - - - - - - 200,000

One of two Scotch brothers, who, by marriage inherits the great old Dutch estate of the Lispenards, near Canal street.

Steward John - - - - - - 250,000

But 30 years a resident here, and by the force of his own straight forward, clear-headed sagacity in the dry goods line, &c., has acquired near half a million.

Steward John Jr. - - - - - 100,000

Stewart Lispenard - - - - - 500.000

He is now possessed of the remains of the Lispenard estate, in addition to a large amount received by his wife, a daughter of L. Salles, deceased, a native of France, who amassed a large fortune in this city, by cautious loans during great pressures, and by rigid economy.

Alexander Stewart, the father of Lispenard, came to this country with his elder brother, Robert, from Scotland. They commenced as brokers, and acquired some property, when Robert failed, paying a pistareen on a pound--that is one seventh, and put his property into possession of his brother, with the agreement that the survivor should receive the estate belonging to both. Previous to this, Alexander having married a daughter of Lispenard, of an old Dutch family, and owning a large tract of meadows and marshes in the vicinity of where Canal street now is. On the death of Lispenard, Alexander Stewart came into possession of a portion of this estate, by his wife, and also a good portion of that of her two brothers, Leonard and Anthony, who died, after having parted with the best part of their fortune; each leaving heirs. Mr. Stewart had also the entire possession of the estate of his imbecile sister-in-law, who left him her fortune, by will. Alexander dying, this estate came into the possession of his brother Robert, who, on his decease, a short time since, bequeathed it to his nephew, Lispenard, the only son of Alexander. James Watson Webb, his brother, an officer in the army, and M. Stewart, a chaplain in the navy, married daughters of Alexander Stewart. Since the death of Alexander S., there has been much legal controversy in regard to this estate, particularly between several of the heirs of old M. Lispenard, and those of Alexander Stewart on the one hand, and Robert and Lispenard Stewart on the other. Lispenard professes to hold the estate which, though immense, is incumbered, solely for the benefit of those having legal or equitable claims on it.

St. John Samuel (estate of) - - 300.000

Lately deceased in New Haven, Ct. He was early in life a Tailor, and made the bulk of his fortune by fortunate investments in real estate, and by loaning during pressures. He was once Alderman of the second ward.

Storm Isaac A. - - - - - 200,000

Early in life he left the place of his nativity, somewhere in Dutchess Co, and came to this city. It is said of him that about the first enterprise into which he embarked, was the purchasing of a keg of beeswax, the profits on which gave him a start, while a clerk in a grocery store, and undoubtedly formed the nucleus around which his present ample fortune has gathered. "Industry and economy" have always been his motto. He is now one of the very oldest grocers in this city.

Storm Garret - - - - - - 500.000

An old retired Grocer, who made his money by honest industry.

Storm Stephen - - - - - - 150.000

Brother and partner in business with the above, strictly a business man, and has considerable knowledge in mechanics.

Sturges Jonathan - - - - - 100.000

Stuyvesant Peter G. - - - - - 1,500.000

His ancestor, Governor-General and Admiral Von Peter Stuyvesant, that redoubtable little fiery gentleman, whose portraiture is so graphically touched by Diedrich Knickerbocker, and who, as the last of the Dutch dynasty, went out uproariously, a true marriner, subjecting all his vassals to courts martial, military flogging, &c., if they but dared to look at his surliness, is familiarly known in the history of New York. Governor Nicoll, from England, who brought the little gentleman to his bearings, omitted one thing, viz: to make him disgorge some of his cruel exactions, but Peter took the oath to the Gorgon banner of St. George, and doffed the beaver-tail and windmill escutcheon of Dutch authority, and thus retaining his rich cabbage gardens at Corlaer's Hook and Bowery, hid himself away as snug as a mouse in a cheese. The generations from him are all baptized in the lace shirt in which he was christened. They inherit and keep too, the silver spoon.

A son of Orrin Thompson, and in business with his father.

Thompson James - - - - - 150,000
Son of James Thompson, (deceased,) who was a merchant and ship owner, and came from Scotland. The son has not been in business, and has spent much time in Europe, and has a rare collection of paintings and works of art.

Thompson Jonathan - - - - 150,000
An apostle of the "old guard" of democracy, and comes from that vigorous nursery of such material, "Old Suffolk." He was a long time our respected Collector, and is now the President of the Manhattan Company.

Thompson Orrin - - - - - $300 000
Of an ancient respectable Connecticut family, and the architect of his own fortune. He commenced business in this city some thirty years ago as a carpet dealer, and in 1827 established the first carpet manufactory in the country, and in the following year built a second factory a few miles distant from the first—and the result has been two large villages, one named Thompsonville in Ct., the largest carpet manufactory in the whole world. The first carpet made in this factory was sold in this city by Geo. W. Betts, in Pearl street. There are now several other factories in operation, and nine tenths of the ingrain carpets sold here, are made in this country, and are equal and even superior to the English. The Thompsonville factory turns out a large amount of Brussels carpet of the best kind in the market, much of old Brussels is made in this country. Mr. Thompson, with his his son Henry G. and J. Elnathan Smith, constituting the firm of Orrin Thompson & Co., have in the city the largest sales room in the United States, for carpets. Mr. Thompson is a self-made man of great capacity, and much esteemed for his virtues.

Thompson Samuel - - - - 150,000
A coal dealer and shipper.

Thomson Samuel - - - - - 200,000
Made his fortune as a builder, and now resides at Fort Washington.

Thorne Jonathan - - - - - 200,000
A Leather dealer in the Swamp; married the daughter of the late Israel Corse; an unassuming substantial merchant, a Quaker.

Thorne Herman - - - - 00,000
This gentleman, we believe, is a native of New Jersey, of highly respectable parents; was appointed a purser in the Navy and went up the Mediterranean after the peace of 1815, under the command of Decatur. He subsequently married the only daughter of Mr. Jauncey, an aged and wealthy Englishman, who lived for many years in Broadway near the Bowling Green, against the consent of the father, who refused to be reconciled to him. Mr. Jauncey left all his estate to his daughter, who for several years resided in Paris with a large family, and lived in great style, entertaining the nobility and gentry and all the Americans of respectability. The increasing value of the Jauncey estate rendered it necessary for Mr. Thorne to return home and accordingly he has brought all his family from France, and now resides in this city. He has a little of the foreign air and bon ton about him, but at heart is a good American.

Thorne Thomas W. - - - - - 100,000
Formerly engaged in the Lottery business, but at present President of the Jefferson Insurance Co.

Thwing J. C. - - - - - - 150,000

Tileston Thomas - - - - - 300,000

poor shoemaker, from Massachusetts His partner, Mr Tileston, was a journeyman printer from the same state. From small beginnings as shoe dealers, they subsequently became very extensively engaged in that line as wholesale dealers in Water street, in which, with operations in navigation, they have amassed a large fortune. They have lately built a splendid steamship, called the "Southerner," to run between this port and Charleston.

Tillou F. R. - - - - - 200,000

A self-made man in the law; his father being a long time in the humble capacity of one of the Mayor's police marshals. This son married a sister of that remarkable genius and first of American poets Dr. Joseph Rodman Drake—"croaker senior." Has been Alderman of the Fifth Ward, and is of the firm of Tillou & Cutting.

Tisdale Samuel T. - - - - - 100,000

Titus William M. - - - - - 300,000

A dry good merchant who married the daughter of Thomas Gardiner, now of New Jersey, a brother of the late John Gardiner. Mr. Titus is of a Long Island Quaker family.

Todd Wm. W. - - - - - - 150,000

Of a New York family, we believe; long distinguished democratic merchants.

Tonnelee John Estate of - - - 500,000

Came from France, and kept a large Glove Store in Pearl Street, and afterwards was in the Wool business, in which his son succeeds him in the firm of Tonnelee & Hall.

The old gentleman purchased a large piece of property in the 6th avenue, near 14th street, some five and-twenty years ago, where he resided from that time till his death, a short time since. That spot of ground at the time of its purchase but of a few hundred dollars value, is now worth, it is said, over $100,000.

Tonnelee John - - - - - - 500,000

French; of the firm of Tonnelee & Hall, (the latter his son-in-law,) probably the most extensive wool dealers in the country.

John Tonnelee, the son of John Tonnelee, deceased, married a daughter of the celebrated broker La Salle, by whom his fortune received a vast accession.

Townsend Dr. - - - - - - 100 000

Taken when young by a rich uncle, Charles Wright, of Flushing, long since deceased, and inherited his estate. He was educated a Physician, but does not practice. He married a daughter (now deceased,) of William Prince, the celebrated Horticulturist.

Towning Richard (estate of) - - 100,000

Townsend Elihu - - - - - 150,000

Broker; of a New Haven family. He and his brother in law, Nevins, have amassed a large property.

Townsend Isaac - - - - - 150,000

With his brothers, William H. and Robert C., a Dry Goods Jobber in Nassau street, and of a different family from any of the above. He and his brother Wm. H. married daughters of the rich David Austin.

Townsend John R. - - - - - 100 000

A member of the bar—and inherited his money from his father, Ald. Thomas S., and from his wife's father, Jacob Drake. The sister of John R. is married to Joseph Lawrence. Of a Long Island family, but not related to Thomas J.

Townsend J. and W. - - - - 150,000

Brothers, and together worth this sum, which they have made by long perseverance and strict integrity in the Drug business, in Water street.

Townsend Robert C. - - - - 150,000

The other brother, who married a daughter of Samuel Whittemore, a very rich card merchant, deceased Robert C. received $75,000 by his wife.

Trumble George T. - - - - - 100,000

Truslow James - - - - - - 100,000

A large Coal dealer, in business with his son.

Tucker Gideon Estate of - - - 250,000

Formerly a mason, builder and architect. He married a daughter of Henry Brevoort, deceased, who was the father also of the great millionaire, Henry Brevoort.

Tucker Fanning C. - - - - - 150,000

This is truly a "tall" good fellow in every sense, being near seven feet in his shoes, as is plain to all men's views, sings an admirable song, and patronizes music and the opera: drives a fine team, and, in short, is a first rate gentleman, living as a gentleman should, and showing that one can be such without neglecting even the severer engagements of business and the counting room. Prof. John B. Beck married a daughter of Mr. Tucker. Is President of the Leather Manufacturers Bank.

Turner Mr. - - - - - - 100,000

Tucker Moses - - - - - - 100,000

Born in the city of New York; son of the late Gideon Tucker; commenced the hardware business in Chatham street, where he continued, both early and late, until about ten years ago, when he retired from business. By his own unaided efforts, he has realised the above handsome sum, which is all securely invested in real estate in this city.

Trinity Church Corporation.—This Corporation having, before the Revolutionary war, received certain grants of land from the Crown in the city of New York, had those grants confirmed by various acts of the Legislature, after the achievement of Independence. They consisted of lots of ground in the neighborhood of the Park and St. Paul's Church, and some acres in the vicinity of St. John's Park. In the early period of the history of this city those grants were not esteemed very valuable, and many were leased for a hundred years, at a mere nominal rent. With the improvements, however, in the city, and the expiration of leases, the lots have become very valuable, and the corporation adopted the plan of leasing to tenants in possession, charging five per cent. per annum on the value of the lot. They also gave several lots to Episcopal churches to raise revenue for their pastors; and, generally speaking, Trinity Church is considerable liberal, but the churches to whom lots have been given are hard customers. Several attempts have been made to set aside the grants, and various heirs of estates have commenced suits, but with no apparent success. All our courts of law have sustained the validity of church titles, which, if lots are valued at what they will bring, is as good an article of real estate as lots in ice. Trinity Church, in addition to laying out $600,000 on a new church, is liberal in erecting other places of Episcopal worship.

Ulshoeffer Michael - - - - - 100,000

This gentleman is well known as a Judge of the Court of Common Pleas. His father was a respectable musician from Hesse Cassel; came over at the time of the Revolution: for many years a performer at the Park Theatre. Many of our old people will remember the huge fiddle which he used to perform on. The son, the present worthy judge, was sent up to the Assembly when yet a young man, by the Tammany party of this city. He was distinguished at that time for his unbending manners: his independence of character and his great moral courage. Office and honors were rather thrust upon him than sought for. Had he possessed more blandness and suavity of address, more genuine office-seeking talent there were no obstacles that could have prevented his receiving almost any situation he might have aspired to. He is esteemed as an upright, fearless judge of unlimited integrity.

V

Vanalen James I. - - - - - 250,000

A shrewd old Knickerbocker, formerly from Kinderhook; made his large property in the dry goods trade, in times when great profits and small risks were the order of the day.

Vanalen Jas H - - - - - 100,00

Van Auken Jesse 100,000
Of an old Knickerbocker stock; honest and industrious; has made his money by strict attention to business, the butter and lard trade.

Van Zandt, Thomas - - - - 150,000
Of an old Dutch family, always lived upon his property, and has for many years resided in Europe.

Van Antwerp James - - - - 100,000

Van Arsdale Peter, Dr. - - - 100,000
A highly respected physician, who has by dint of severe and continued hard labor in his profession, acquired, in the upper part of our city, where the pay is small, but sure, a comfortable fortune. He is of our old Dutch families.

Van Buren John - - - - - 100,000

Vanderbilt Cornelius - - - - 750,000
Of an old Dutch root. Cornelius has evinced more energy and "go aheadativeness" in building and driving steamboats, and other projects, than ever one single dutchman possessed. It takes our American hot suns to clear off the vapors and fogs of the "Zuy der Zee," and wake up the phlegm of a descendant of old Holland.

Vandervoort Peter Estate of - - 150,000

Van Nest Abraham - - - - - 200,000
An old Dutchman, and self-made man; formerly a Saddler, then engaged in the saddlery hardware business, in which, and by the rise of real estate, he has made his money.

Van Rensellaer (Estate of) Stephen - 10,000,000
The late Patroon Van Rensellaer, of Albany, the lord of the manor Rensellaerwyck, the most ancient and distinguished name of the old Dutch gentry who came hither shortly after the discovery of the Hudson river, 1609. The first patroon of Lord Van Rensellaer, owned near thirty miles square, both sides of the river, at, and above, and below Albany; the estate then comprehending that city, then a fortress, now a free town and capital of the State, while the manor and all its feudal privileges, and the Helderberg mountains and its hardy tenants still do homage to the "noble house of Van Rensellaer." No family in America has so long kept together an estate to be compared with this in value, extent and princely hereditaments. Next to John Jacob Astor's it is the wealthiest in the country. Besides the "lordship" the late Patroon owned hundreds of lots in New York city; among others the block where Niblo has his garden. This estate is now divided between two sons, one of whom owns Albany county and the other Van Rensellaer county. The "Anti-rent" troubles in this district has probably caused the defeat of the Democratic party at the late state election.

Van Nostrand John - - - - - 150,000
Of a respectable old Dutch family, from Jamaica, Long Island.

Van Schaick M. - - 200,000

Varian Isaac L. - - 200,000
Of the very olde t of the Dutch "Mynheers" who, some two centuries since, under probably, Gov. Peter Minuit o Gov. Wm. Kieft, l cate l with the Dyckmans, &c., as honest mechanics at Harlem. Isaac L. has been Senator and Mayor.

Varnum Joseph B. - - - - - 500,000
Is from a Massachusetts family, son of Speaker Varnum. He is the senior partner in the firm of Varnum, Graham & Webb, a large Dry Good house in Pearl street.

Verplanck Gulian C. - - - - - 200,000
Son of the rich Judge V., of Fishkill, deceased "Gulian Verplank," the ancestor, is one of the names found in the earliest Dutch records of New Amsterdam, and he himself of plain origin, rose to consideration in municipal trusts, after the English Conquest, 1646. Gulian C. V., late Senator, holds the most polished and classical pen in American literature, but wants the pathos and feeling of Irving, and the strength and energy of many other of our native writers. He has been a Senator of this State, and has been distinguished as a whig politician. He is now editing one of the best editions of Shakspeare ever published.

Vincent Thomas - - - - - 100,000

Voisin J. A. - - - - - - 100,000

W

Waddell W. C. H. - - - 200,000
Mr. W. was appointed United States Marshal of this district by Gen. Jackson, and occupied the situation till superceded by the present incumbent. Mr. W. has been twice married, and each time, we believe, to great pecuniary advantage. On the Bankrupt Law going into effect he was appointed general assignee for New York and vicinity.

Wagstaff, (estate of David) - - 250,000

Wetmore Wm. S. - - - - - 500,000
Married about 2 years ago Miss Rodgers, of Salem, Mass. He was, at the time, a widower. He was a clerk in the house of Carrington & Co., Providence, by whom he was sent to Canton, whence, after a residence of a few years, he returned with a princely fortune.

Wetmore David - - - - - 200,000
An iron merchant. Married a daughter of old Peter Sharp, the whip maker, by whom it is said, he obtained $100,000.

Wetmore Apollos R. - - - - 150,000
An extensive hardware merchant. A. R. W. is well known as an eminent philanthropist, actively engaged in the cause of humanity, being one of the originators of the Society for the relief of the poor; also a member of the Tract Society and one of its most efficient agents. The blessings of the widow and orphan are his: and happy for the world would it be, were there more like him.

Wendell John D. - - - - - - 250,000
A native of Rhode Island, and has acquired a good portion of his property in the commercial and shipping business. Formerly a furrier.

The late District Attorney for this county, and distinguished as a lawyer. He has been an alderman, and an influential man in the democratic ranks. He has made a fortune in investments in real estate, and his profession has been lucrative.

Whitlock William Jr. - - - - 150,000
A shipping and commission merchant.

Whitney Stephen - - - - 3,500,000
Some estimate his wealth at double the amount. The great impetus to his fortune, was given by several heavy but fortunate speculations in cotton. His investments in real estate many years ago, have doubled his fortune by a rise in value. Mr. Whitney is a very shrewd manager, and careful in his dealings, but liberal in other respects.

Whittemore Timothy - - - - 100,000

Whittemore Mrs. Samuel - - - 200,000

Whittemore Thomas - - - - 150,000
A son of Timothy, whose father was the inventor of the wool carding machine, one of the most remarkable inventions on record, as displayed in its complicated and marvellous movements. This invention is the source of Thomas' wealth.

Whittemore John - - - - - 100,000
